CANADIAN RECIPROCITY BILL PASSES BY VOTE—53 TO 27

Every Amendment Defeated by Healthy Majority; Measure Will Be Law Next Wednesday

Vote for ..... 53 Vote against ..... 27

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Canadian reciprocity bill passed the Senate without amendment today by a vote of 53 to 27. All amendments had been previously defeated. It becomes a law by the President's signature, the Senate measure being the bill that passed the House.

The defeat of the McCumber amendment reducing duties on many necessities of life and increasing the free list was indicative of all votes on amendments to the bill, being defeated 16 to 64.

The Nelson amendment restoring half of the duty on grains and farm products made free in the reciprocity bill was then defeated, 23 to 58.

An amendment by Senator Simmons of North Carolina putting fresh meats and meat products on the free list in the reciprocity bill was defeated 16 to 64.

Senator Simmons then offered his amendment to the flour and cereal products on the reciprocity free list, and it was defeated, 17 to 63.

The Cummins amendments then were taken up. The first was defeated, 17 to 64. That reducing the duty on various steel products was defeated, 17 to 64.

That reducing the duty on oilcloth and linoleum was defeated on a viva voce vote.

Senator La Follette then called up his amendment compelling a general revision of the woolen tariff. It also was defeated by 16 to 64.

LIVELY SESSION.

It was just 1:36 p. m. when the bill passed the Senate. The final vote came at the close of a lively session. There were numerous roll calls on the various amendments, but no attempt at any time to delay final action.

The Senate chamber was well filled, many members of the House having gathered in the rear of the hall. The galleries were crowded. News of the passage of the reciprocity bill was telephoned at once to the White House.

President Taft made no attempt to conceal his pleasure. He was particularly glad that the bill had passed prior to his departure for the week-end visit to Beverly.

Taft will be back in Washington Tuesday morning.

Following was the vote:

Republicans against the bill: Borah and Heyburn, Idaho; Bourn, Oregon; Brewster and Curtis, Kansas; Burnham, New Hampshire; Clapp and Nelson, Minnesota; Clark, Rhode Island; Wyoming; Crawford and Gamble, South Dakota; Cummins and Kenyon, Iowa; Dixon, Montana; Gronna and McCumber, North Dakota; La Follette, Wisconsin; Lippitt, Rhode Island; McManis, Illinois; Oliver, Pennsylvania; Page, Vermont; Smith, Michigan; Smoot, Utah.

LAWYER IS BADLY HURT

J. C. Campbell, the Well-Known Attorney, May Die of Injuries Received

Crushed Between the Railroad Coach and Post; In Grave Danger

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Attorney J. C. Campbell of the law firm of Campbell, Metson, Drew, Oatman & MacKenzie, was dangerously and perhaps fatally injured this morning while on the ferryboat Solano crossing Carquinez straits.

Attorney Campbell was on his way from Sacramento, where he had been on business connected with litigation in the Court of Appeals. When the train was on the ferryboat, Campbell alighted and, as near as can be ascertained, when the cars were shunted from the boat to the track at Port Costa, he was caught between a post and one of the coaches, being terribly crushed.

Witnesses of the accident went to his assistance and found him well high unconscious and suffering intense agony. As soon as the train reached San Francisco the injured attorney was hurried to St. Winifred's hospital.

Dr. Winslow Anderson, upon a hurried examination of his patient, discovered that the left arm was broken near the shoulder, that six ribs were fractured and that there was undoubtedly some serious injury to the spine.

When seen this afternoon, Dr. Anderson said:

"Mr. Campbell is very seriously injured and it will be some time before he can be said to be out of danger. I would not at this time venture to say when he will be able to leave the hospital. We are waiting developments of symptoms that will enable us to more accurately determine the extent of his injuries."

"Just how the accident occurred I have not been fully informed, but I understand that he was caught between one of the coaches and a post on the ferryboat Solano, or between two of the passenger coaches."

Attorney J. C. Campbell is one of the best known lawyers in the State of California, and for many years past has been connected with some of the most important litigations that have ever been before the courts of this state. He is particularly well known throughout the San Joaquin valley, for he practiced law in the city of Stockton for many years.

New Clew Is Being Traced as Result of Talk With Young Woman's Friends

Encouraged by Large Reward, Many Amateur Detectives Join in Search For Missing Person

$1000 REWARD OFFERED

A reward of $1000 has been offered for information which will lead to the recovery of May Gertrude Ilg, who has been missing since Monday. The money was raised by the girl's family and her friends and has been placed in the hands of the family to be given to the person who first gives information of the missing girl.

Search for May Gertrude Ilg, who disappeared from her home in San Francisco on Monday, once more centered in Fruitvale today.

Mrs. W. R. Parker, at whose restaurant in Fruitvale a young woman answering Miss Ilg's description recently called, has another clew to the whereabouts of the girl. This morning Mrs. Parker, after sending word through THE TRIBUNE to Miss Ilg's family that she desired to see one of the brothers, began some detective work of her own in an effort to trace the girl.

Just what clew Mrs. Parker has she declines to say, but she declares that she is more certain than ever that it was Miss Ilg who called at her restaurant in order to satisfy herself on this point.

Mrs. Parker yesterday called on members of the Nathan-Dohrmann Company in San Francisco, where Miss Ilg had at one time worked as a stenographer. She said that those with whom she talked, who knew Miss Ilg intimately, agreed that, according to her description, the girl who visited her restaurant must have been Miss Ilg.

BAKER SEES GIRL

John Davis, a baker, employed by Mrs. Parker, last night read the description of the missing girl for the first time and called attention to the fact that the girl who had been in the restaurant wore a white collar trimmed with heavy gold braid about the top. Davis had not spoken to the visitor while she was in the place, but his attention was called to her as she passed him in the doorway. He distinctly remembered, he said, the gold braid. Otherwise his description was incomplete.

"After my talk with Mrs. Blanca Paulsen in San Francisco yesterday," said Mrs. Parker, "we were as certain as could be that Miss Ilg had been in Fruitvale and so far as the friends and relatives have learned to date, it is the most complete clew yet discovered. Many of the girl's peculiarities were considered and Mrs. Paulsen said she was quite convinced of her identity."

MENLO PARK CLEW.

Yesterday the trail of the officers led them to Menlo Park, where a number of persons stated that they had seen a girl closely resembling descriptions given out of the girl's peculiarities and that her actions were such as to indicate that she was not in her right mind.

Mrs. Hans Agard told the detective that last Thursday morning a distressed person of Miss Ilg's appearance had stopped at her gate and asked a number of questions, saying, "I am so tired." She wanted to know the time of departure of San Francisco trains and also to be directed to some nickelodeon, where she could pass the intervening time.

Mrs. Magnus Paulsen of Ravenwood avenue, Menlo Park, related that a girl of Miss Ilg's description has inquired of her the way to the Catholic church and then walked in that direction. The clergy, however, stated that no such person had put in an appearance there during the day.

TO QUESTION CLOSELY MISSING GIRL'S FRIENDS

IN SEARCH FOR NEW CLEWS

Detective to Seek Full Information Concerning Past Life of May Iig

Family Still Hopeful That Absent Daughter Is Yet Among the Living

Robinson, told of a girl having visited the station about 9:30 o'clock in the morning and leaving a suitcase for which she returned about 11:30. She acted in a peculiar manner, they said, but their descriptions of her differed and not much credence is placed in the clew.

That Miss Iig had been treated by Mrs. Miller, a "beauty doctor," with offices at 166 Geary street, paying $150 for the removal of hair on her face, was stated by H. G. Miller, one of the proprietors, yesterday, but he added that the treatment had not been necessary and that the girl seemed particularly vain over her facial appearance and complexion. The balance of the bill, $50, was paid Monday morning, he said.

During the treatment the girl was anxious that in no manner should the family know about it and specified that no bills should be sent to her home.

Again this morning the detectives assigned to the case continued to work on a number of clews that developed during the night. Practically every lodging house on both sides of the bay have been searched.

Iig Family Is Still Hopeful That Girl Is Living

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Crews have been coming in thick and fast to the police and amateur sleuths as to the whereabouts of May Gertrude Iig, and today they were augmented, if anything, by reason of the reward of $1000 offered by the family. At 5 o'clock this morning the night clerk of the Congress Hotel sent a hurry call to police headquarters saying that a woman was acting suspiciously and that she was the missing girl.

Detective Sergeants Patrick O'Connell and Dave Sullivan, who were on night duty, went out in the police automobile, but the quest proved fruitless. The family of Miss Iig, however, refused to give up and are now making the possibility of being done by the officers of the law. It is thought, however, that as the young woman has not been found in the five days' search she is either dead or she is herself purposely avoiding discovery and the only hope now, in the minds of many of the searchers, is that either she will be discovered past all human aid or make herself known in her own good time.

Detective Behan, who has been doing his best to run down the false reports placed in his hands, turned his attention this morning to another angle of the case and will proceed to interview every one of the relatives, friends, acquaintances and persons to whom Miss Iig addressed herself within a month prior to her dropping from sight. It is a detective's duty to find out everything about the girl, and he has served among the doctors and others whom Miss Iig consulted may have forgotten to mention a trivial point which might lead to solve the mystery.

FAMILY STILL HOPEFUL

After reporting at headquarters this morning the detectives spread out again for the search, which has now widened over four counties adjacent to the Francisco Bay. The family of Miss Iig, however, refused to give up and are now making the possibility of being done by the officers of the law. It is thought, however, that as the young woman has not been found in the five days' search she is either dead or she is herself purposely avoiding discovery and the only hope now, in the minds of many of the searchers, is that either she will be discovered past all human aid or make herself known in her own good time.

It is a detective's duty to find out everything about the girl, and he has served among the doctors and others whom Miss Iig consulted may have forgotten to mention a trivial point which might lead to solve the mystery.

TWO GOOD CLEWS

The other officers in the case, together with a number of private detectives who have been working for the reason of the large reward, announced today that they are proceeding along independent lines. Of the clews so far run down the one in Fruitvale furnished Mrs. Parker and yesterday's information from the other was considered the most important.

In the event that Miss Iig is found some of her friends contend that she will be in an insane condition. It is thought that worry over her beauty, and perhaps over other matters unknown to those close to her, has served to unbalance her mind and make her irresponsible for her present wanderings. Captain of Detectives Ryan has detailed some of his best men in the search and feels confident that everything that can be done is being accomplished by those engaged in pursuit of clews furnished from different sources.

How Girl Was Dressed When She Disappeared

The following is a minute description of May Gertrude Iig as provided by the family of the missing girl:

- HEIGHT—About 5 feet 6 inches.
- WEIGHT—About 135 pounds.
- HAIR—Black with tinge of brown, dressed pompadour.
- EYES—Dark brown, with black eyebrows and long lashes.
- TEETH—Gold-filled in front.
- HANDS—Very white, well kept, with tapering fingers.
- COMPLEXION—Medium fair with noticeable red places under eyes and around mouth similar to effects of sunburn on a tender skin, causing appearance of white lines around lips and white streaks under eyes.
- HAT—Grayish blue straw, very high crown, right side much drooping over face, entirely covering right ear; left side trimmed with large boa and messaline blue ribbon; right side trimmed with two folds of ribbon with wreaths of roses through center of ribbon.
- DRESS—Blue, tight-fitting, tailor-made suit of navy blue; tight-fitting jacket between hip and three-quarter length; tight-fitting sleeves with no cuffs; five or six small black buttons; black mohair silk sailor collar attached to jacket; seams in jacket and skirt double-stitched about one-half inch apart; skirt reaches to ankles; seven to nine gores; waist, navy blue silk with white polka dots; high collar with extensions under ears; gold cord on top edge of collar; sleeves, pointed finish at wrists; no lace.
- GLOVES—White kid.
- SHOES—Patent leather button.

The search for Miss Iig were instructed this morning to begin anew a systematic search of all the specialists in the city. There is a slender theory that the missing girl may have decided, perhaps acting under mental aberration, to undergo the "dark-room" treatment at some of these places.

DESTROYED LETTERS

It was hoped by those interested in the search for the missing girl that letters which she frequently received might shed some light on her causes of worry, if she had any, or on any intention she might have had to aking any special course of treatment. In this point, that might have been vital in securing some means of tracing her whereabouts, the family and detectives are baffled, as Miss Iig made it a point to destroy all her letters as soon as she had answered them. She was the recipient of frequent letters, the usual correspondence of the average girl, sometimes love letters and sometimes heart to heart letters from her friends, but every one for years has been destroyed as soon as she had replied to it.

At the home on Hartford street the suffering is pitiful to see. It is a typical middle-class American home and the parents are high-minded people to whom the tragedy that has come upon them is almost maddening.

MOTHER BREAKING DOWN

"It can't last much longer. I will go insane or to my grave," wailed the mother, and then came one of those outbursts of mother-grief that are too sacred to relate. Then indignation nerved her to defend her daughter. "They try to tell me my girl is dead, but I know she is not. These fools come here and think they can explain my girl's conduct to me, her mother! Don't I know? I tell you the truth, and I care nothing for their theories; my girl is either hurt or dead or in some way kept from home without being able to come back, and she is insane. She went from that door as happy and care free as she ever was in her life, and meaning to come straight home. And if May Iig has done any wrong, it is the first time in her life she ever even had a thought of wrong. Now, I can't tell you more, but if you think you can do anything to find my girl, I hope it will be soon. I have endured pretty near all I can."

HAD FACE SKINNED

One thing was admitted by her people. The agony of that extreme resort to beauty doctors, face skinning had been endured right at home by Miss Iig some two weeks before she disappeared.

In this process the face is actually skinned. The sufferer must take the treatment in a darkened room, and remain there until a new cuticle forms, and until the tenderness has abated enough to stand the outer air without cracking. Miss Iig had nerved herself to this ordeal, and after applying the chemical pack that took the skin off her face raw as a beefsteak, was so swollen the eyes were hardly visible. This gradually subsided, and last week she was able to go to the parlors on Geary street for after-treatment.

MORPHINE TO DEADEN PAIN

Morphine, given to May Iig by beauty doctors to deaden the pain caused by treatments may have been a serious contributing cause of the young girl's strange disappearance last Monday evening.

This, at least, is the new theory advanced reluctantly by May Iig's half-sister, Miss Margaret Callahan, who, as the days pass by without any real trace of the missing girl, turns from one theory to another in a vain effort to find some solution of the baffling mystery.

"May I tell home all right," said Miss Callahan today, "but it is not at all improbable that she became temporarily deranged after we lost sight of her. The experience she went through with the beauty doctors was enough to drive any girl out of her senses. I pleaded with her to abandon the treatments, but she would not listen to me."

DRUGS ARE BLAMED

"The treatments were so painful that the doctors gave her morphine, and they

DESERT IS SWEEPED BY FLOODS

140 Degree Hot Wave in Death Valley Is Followed by Terrific Cloudbursts

Many Mining Camps Are Obliterated by Storm, Which Sweeps Over South

SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—Cloudbursts that filled canyons, with debris and turned bunk shacks at the mines into houseboats, have marked the climax of a hot wave which sent the mercury up to 140 degrees in the Death Valley sink. The terrific heat drove out all of the human denizens of the desert just as it began to rain, to avoid the heaviest precipitation the mountain regions surrounding the sink have experienced for thirty years.

The climax of the storm developed terrific cloudbursts in remote regions. One mining camp was almost entirely obliterated when the floods deluged the Copper Hills. The distant roar of thunder in regions more than 100 miles from this city could be heard here.

TOPOGRAPHY CHANGED

News of the devastation caused by the storms has reached here in piecemeal, the fragments pointing to unusual changes in the topography of certain sections.

Railroad traffic was interfered with during the fore part of the week. Santa Fe officials last night report that the backbone of the storm has been broken along that route. The damage has been repaired and trains will be moving near schedule today.

During the fore part of the week the Gideon Marshall camp was aroused by the roar of water rushing down Alkali gulch. The miners leaped from their bunks to see a wall of water fifteen feet high just turning the last bend in the rocky canyon before breaking over the camp. Several narrow escapes from death in the flood occurred.

SAVED FROM DEATH

George Harkness was struck by a tree trunk and hurled into the water. He was saved by a shift foreman.

In the zone intersected by the Tonopah-Tidewater railroad canyons are almost entirely filled with debris. While the Boston gold quartz property, fifteen miles north of Silver Lake, several bunk houses were carried away and a number of horses were drowned, while the Chinese cook was carried for a long distance down the canyon, being found next day helpless from exposure and his terrible battle for life.

WIRES ARE DOWN

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 22.—Electrical storms, general throughout the northern and central portions of the territory, have rendered telegraph communication more uncertain than it has been for years. Lightning systems of this city and other places have suffered almost entirely.

Lighting was intermittent, and the Glendale suburban electric line was out of commission altogether.

The government telegraph lines east and west of Maricopa were down for some time yesterday, as were the wires along the Santa Fe railway.

Western Union linemen, who had just completed wiring new poles yesterday at Ash Fork, were just boarding a train to leave when a bolt of lightning destroyed their entire work.

Diablo, and a suitable road to the summit, will confer with Secretary Denison. The committee is composed of George T. Crompton of Walnut Creek, Harry Osborn of San Ramon and A. E. Clark of Danville.

Other representatives from that section, as well as others interested in the state highway proposition, will also be present.

THIRTY KILLED IN BATTLE

MEXICO CITY, July 22.—Thirty Mexican were killed in a battle with federal forces near San Miguel Alende. General Manuel Plata has been appointed war minister to succeed Rascon. Minister of the Interior Emilio Vasquez Gomez announces he will resign, but gives no reasons.

MANY GET EMPLOYMENT.

MARE ISLAND, July 22.—Prosperity continues to smile on the Mare Island naval yard. No less than forty-eight mechanics were issued by the board of labor.

ANALYSIS OF VOTE

An analysis of the vote showed that twenty-four Republicans voted against the bill and twenty-one in favor of it, while three Democrats voted against and thirty-two in favor of it.

The senators who were absent were: Dillworth, Delaware; Fyfe, Maine; Gallinger, N. H.; Lee, Texas; Feyer, Miss.; Rayner, Md.; Tillman, S. C.

The senators who were present but did not vote because of being paired with absent senators were: Dillingham, Vermont; Sulch, Idaho; Thurston, Louisiana. There are two Senate vacancies from Georgia (due to the resignation of Senator Terrell) and Colorado.

The measure cannot become a law until next Wednesday when the House adjourns at 12:00 o'clock until the time of the must be returned to the House for endorsement before it can be signed by the President.

The passage of the bill by the Senate in precisely the form it emerged from the House will bring an end to President Taft's long fight for the measure, although during the debate which led up to today's final action party lines were swept away and a vigorous fight was waged to saddle the measure with riders that friends of the measure aimed would have meant the defeat of the whole proposition.

The bill is the first of the measures to be disposed of under the voting agreement between the Senate and the House at Albany, N. Y., between President Taft and Canadian Minister of Finance Fielding. Since then it has been carried along through two Congresses, fruitlessly through the last one, because it was defeated in the Senate, and succeeded by Representative McCall of Massachusetts. The present measure was gathered by Democratic leader Underwood of the House, chairman of the ways and means committee.

The Senate took up Canadian reciprocity as soon as a quorum was obtained at 11:15 a. m. the roll showing seventy-eight senators present. The amendment of Senator McCumber of North Dakota, reducing duties on many necessities of life and increasing the free list was first taken up and defeated, 15 to 54.

MUST BE SIGNED

Following the passage of the bill by the Senate and its immediate signature by Vice-President Sherman the measure must be "messaged" back to the House, which originated it, engrossed on parchment, signed by Speaker Clark, and then signed by President Taft.

Officially and theoretically the engrossment must be done while the House is in session, but in fact the bill is already on parchment.

The fight for reciprocity, the supreme campaign of the present administration, had its inception at a conference sixteen months ago at Albany, N. Y., between President Taft and Canadian Minister of Finance Fielding. Since then it has been carried along through two Congresses, fruitlessly through the last one, because it was defeated in the Senate, and succeeded by Representative McCall of Massachusetts. The present measure was gathered by Democratic leader Underwood of the House, chairman of the ways and means committee.

The Senate took up Canadian reciprocity as soon as a quorum was obtained at 11:15 a. m. the roll showing seventy-eight senators present. ## VISITORS FROM SOUTH ARE CALHOUN'S GUESTS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—A party of prominent persons of North and South Carolina, touring the Pacific coast, yesterday were the guests of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads. The tourists, sixty in number, spent all over the city in two private cars.

Calhoun is a South Carolinian, and while not personally acquainted with any member of the party, he extended an invitation to the visitors through the Rev. William Black of Charlotte, N. C., who is conducting the party, and it was accepted promptly. Those who rode about the city in the cars are business men, bankers, educators and mill operators of the Carolinas, their wives and daughters.

TROUBLE IN MEXICO TO CONTINUE

Many Diaz Appointees Must Be Removed to Restore Tranquility

Officials Who Have Greatly Abused Their Power Arouse Enmity of the People

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Commenting upon the continuance of turbulence in Mexico after an apparently successful revolution, a distinguished Mexican resident of this city declared that the conditions were peculiar to his own country and were not at all understood in America. The great mass of the people had no quarrel with the federal government, he said; that was too far removed from them. About national issues they cared little. All they knew of authority was represented by the local mayors and magistrates, whose appointments they had nothing to do and with whom they had nothing in sympathy. Frequently these officials were guilty of the greatest abuse of power, inflicting heavy punishment upon the natives for insignificant offenses and infringing upon their rights of privacy to such an extent that the people became exasperated and beyond restraint.

When this found expression it was soon developed that the federal government, which had appointed these officials stood behind them with all of its strength, hence it was only natural that a purely local revolt against some unpopular official inevitably resolved itself into a revolutionary movement against the government in the city of Mexico.

Applying this reasoning to present conditions, it was pointed out that many of the mayors originally appointed by the Diaz government were still in office and that it was against their administration that most of the violence was directed. It was to be expected that when the change of local governments is completed and the people are able to place their own selections in office there will be an end of all trouble.

FORMER OAKLAND EDITOR PROSPERS

Winfield S. Ingram Now Owner of San Bernardino Newspaper.

Winfield S. Ingram, formerly a well-known newspaper man of the bay cities, and in recent years city editor of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE, is now one of the proprietors of the San Bernardino Daily News.

Ingram, who, being scarcely 30 years old, is one of the youngest newspaper proprietors on the coast, began his journalistic career in the bay section, and was for some time THE TRIBUNE'S sporting editor.

Ambitious and wide-awake, with a natural aptitude for newspaper work, Ingram finally became assistant city editor of THE TRIBUNE and later its city editor. Previous to his becoming an owner of the San Bernardino Daily he was engaged in newspaper work in Fresno, Pasadena and other cities.

The San Bernardino News, under the change of management, is already showing every evidence that the expected hand is at the helm. The San Bernardino News is one of the distinctly influential newspapers of the state.

WEEPS WHEN HE WINS LAWSUIT

Herman Rissman Sobbingly Declares He Is "Disgraced Forever."

Herman Rissman, a wealthy cigar manufacturer of Alameda, won a small lawsuit in which he appeared as defendant, late yesterday in the Superior Court, but the fancied disgrace of being sued caused him to weep.

This was the first time in the forty-three years of his life that he had wept. Rissman sobbed to Judge Fred W. Wood of Alameda county, while testifying. "I am disgraced forever."

The manufacture recently built a home in the Encinal city and was sued for $25, a balance alleged to be due for materials, by the Oakland Sash and Door Company. Rissman produced receipts to show that he paid for the material and Judge Wood decided in his favor.

BUNGO MEN ROB SOUTHERN VICTIM

Two Hold Schaffnit While the Third Goes Through Pockets.

R. Schaffnit of 624 West Fifty-third street, Los Angeles, as he was about to leave on the steamer "Clathra."

Schaffnit met one man on the wharf, who invited him to have a drink, and subsequently asked him to look at a shark which he said was lying at the end of the dock. While passing through piles of lumber Schaffnit saw two other men who approached and held him while his companion took $50 from his pocket.

CATERPILLARS STOP TRAIN

McCLOUD, July 22.—"Grasshopper" for a short Southern Pacific train near here that the engine came to a dead stop three times. The engine was drawing only one coach up the heavy grade between here and Sisson. When about a mile north of McCloud the first hold-up was made by the caterpillars. The engineer was forced to turn on the sand to make the wheels grip the track. Immediately upon the sand being shut off there was another stop. This was repeated again, so the man at the throttle kept the sand running until he had passed the caterpillars.

FARIA'S TESTIMONY CRITICIZES RESERVE MEETS VIGOROUS DENIAL OF CONTROLLER BAY LAND

President's Commander Said
He Received No Wireless
From Santa Rosa.

CAPTAIN'S JUDGMENT
SEVERELY CRITICIZED

Passengers Should Have Been Landed Promptly,
Says Critic.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Positive denial by Captain H. C. Thomas of the steamer President of the statement of Captain Faria to passengers of the Santa Rosa that the President was going to the aid of the grounded ship marked the close of the inquiry yesterday.

Captain Thomas had testified that he did not transfer to the Centralia because the President had promised by wireless to reach the wreck scene by noon.

Captain Thomas not only denied that he had promised to go, or could have gone, to the relief of the Santa Rosa, but testified that he had no direct communication with the Santa Rosa.

NO CHANCE TO GIVE AID.

His wireless operator, he said, did not pick up the news of the Santa Rosa's distress until noon. Then the President was eleven hours away, and even if he had turned back he would have reached Port Arguello after the Santa Rosa had broken in two and the passengers were landed.

As the inquiry closed and United States Inspectors Bolles and Bulger took the evidence under advisement for two days or so, Bulger indicated what the findings will be by manifesting interest in only two propositions. His questions sought to establish that Third Officer E. J. Thomas, on watch when the Santa Rosa struck, was primarily guilty of bad steering, changing of the course, or defective eyesight, which placed the full responsibility upon him.

As the last witness, Captain Thomas, the father of the third officer of the Santa Rosa facing blame for the wreck, made out a strong case against Captain Faria.

"In your judgment should not the Santa Rosa's passengers have been landed before any effort was made to pull her off, with attending risks?" asked Inspector Bulger.

"Yes," replied Captain Thomas. "I certainly would have landed the passengers, then looked after the saving of the crew and the ship. The bottom might have dropped while the ship was being pulled off and the passengers dumped into the sea."

From cross-examination of First Officer William Jackson, Inspector Bulger got these definite facts:

"How do you explain the wrecking?" Bulger insisted.

"It must have been some awfully bad steering on either side, or it is not reasonable to infer that the ship set in a mile and a half, for the weather was fairly calm."

Third Officer Thomas on the day previous denied that he changed the course, but could give no explanation of how the vessel got in except that he mistook the Arguello light for a ship's.

SAW THE LIGHT.

Mark Hanson, night watchman, said he saw the light nearly an hour before the Santa Rosa struck, but it was hazy and he did not realize later that the land was near until a few minutes before the grounding.

Captain William Matson has written a letter to ALLARD, Assistant Cashier, proposing that the Point Arguello light be made a flash, in order to prevent mistaking it, as Thomas claims he did, for a locomotive headlight.

TAFT'S AUTO PLOWS

THROUGH SEA OF MUD

WASHINGTON, July 22.—President Taft returned to Washington last night by train from Manassas, Va., after an automobile voyage of nearly 100 miles and through swollen creeks earlier in the day, in the reunion of the blue and the gray. Several motor cars in the Presidential train that left here this afternoon are mired at various points. The President's automobile was abandoned at Manassas.

Roosevelt in Outlook Gives His Views of Alaskan Situation.

NAMES TWO FACTORS
HINDERING DEVELOPMENT

Says Unwise Federal Action
Tends to Give Monopolistic Right.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Theodore Roosevelt has an article on the development of Alaska in today's issue of the Outlook. He declares two factors to be responsible for retarding progress in this direction—great capitalists who wished to "develop Alaska by making enormous fortunes for themselves outside of and in defiance of the law," and the Congressmen "who, under pretense of hostility to the corporations, decline to permit the passage of legislation which will enable them to do their work honestly and to develop the coal fields with a profit to themselves, while doing justice to others."

Referring specifically to the Controller Bay case, Roosevelt says: "In this connection I wish also to call attention to the essential fact as regards the Controller Bay situation. Controller Bay, under actual conditions, offers the only chance, or at any rate, very much the best chance, for a free outlet from the great Bering river coal fields. It was the imperative duty of the government service to keep this outlet free and not to dispose of it to any individual or individuals."

SHOULD HAVE HELD LAND.

"The government should have held this land in perpetuity, permitting its use by any individual or corporation only under conditions that would serve the general public interest. Unfortunately the interior department last October eliminated from the government reserve not only the 320 acres, the elimination of which was mistakenly recommended by the agricultural department, but 12,800 acres."

"Whether or not there was impropriety in the way in which the elimination was brought about, or whether or not there was impropriety in the action which resulted in the instant filing of claims by Ryan and others, does not go to the root of the matter. The root of the matter is that no such elimination should have been made by the interior department. The public interest demanded that this land should be kept under control and to prevent monopoly its use should be permitted only under such conditions as the public need required."

Remember always that such action would not have hindered development; it would have favored development, for it would have enabled any honest corporation to come in and do its part in developing the country without fear of being crowded out by some other corporation, which, through unwise government action might obtain a monopolistic right. It is absolutely essential to the proper development of our waterways within the United States and it is essential to the proper development of the Alaska coal fields."

CRITICIZES JUDGMENT.

As the last witness, Captain Thomas, the father of the third officer of the Santa Rosa facing blame for the wreck, made out a strong case against Captain Faria.

"In your judgment should not the Santa Rosa's passengers have been landed before any effort was made to pull her off, with attending risks?" asked Inspector Bulger.

"Yes," replied Captain Thomas. "I certainly would have landed the passengers, then looked after the saving of the crew and the ship. The bottom might have dropped while the ship was being pulled off and the passengers dumped into the sea."

From cross-examination of First Officer William Jackson, Inspector Bulger got these definite facts:

"How do you explain the wrecking?" Bulger insisted.

"It must have been some awfully bad steering on either side, or it is not reasonable to infer that the ship set in a mile and a half, for the weather was fairly calm."

Third Officer Thomas on the day previous denied that he changed the course, but could give no explanation of how the vessel got in except that he mistook the Arguello light for a ship's.

SAN LEANDRO MAY RENAME STREETS

Petitions Are to Be Circulated to Change Designation of Certain Thoroughfares.

SAN LEANDRO, July 22.—At the last meeting of the town trustees on motion of Trustee Coleman it was decided to notify all property owners who are in favor of renaming certain streets that petitions must be circulated and forwarded to the board. A petition for the changing of Lemon avenue to Euclid avenue has been received by the city fathers and an ordinance will be introduced making the change.

A petition for lights on Freda street was turned down by the board, it being the sense of the body that the property owners should have the street repaved before lights were installed.

The street committee was criticized by Trustee L. J. Toffelmier for apparent unnecessary delays in having street improvements carried out. The committee reported that everything possible was being done to expedite the work.

At the suggestion of Trustee Toffelmier an extra sprinkling cart is to be run at night during the dry season.

The following claims were ordered paid by the financial committee: Peoples Water Co., $240; W. J. Stratton, $21.50; Pacific Gas & Electric Co., $24.25; Union Water Co., $30; B. H. ### PIEDMONT OWNERS VIGOROUS PROTEST

Trustees Object to Paying $200 a Month for Removing Garbage.

PIEDMONT, July 22.—Residents of this district are up in arms over the rate just fixed by Fred C. Turner, commissioner of public health and safety, for the removal of the city garbage. Turner has placed the amount at $20 a month, taking the month of June as an average month.

The matter was brought up before the city trustees at their last meeting, when it was the unanimous opinion of the trustees that the proper rate would be approximately $10 a month, based on the population of the city, which, according to the census, is 1719. It was pointed out that the rate for the disposal of the Berkeley garbage was only twice that of Piedmont, although the population of the college town is approximately 45,000.

The clerk was instructed to write to Commissioner Turner for an explanation of the rate, and unless a lower rate is obtained it is probable that the trustees will withdraw from the agreement entered into by the three cities. In the past, the rate of $100 has been paid yearly for the disposal of sewage and garbage by the Oakland system.

A feature of the evening as a musical entertainment by Neighbors Joseph Vargas, R. V. Richmond, Louis Silver and pointed out the fact that the city of Elmhurst, which was also included in the neighbors' committee, was a committee to arrange for an entertainment scheduled July 22.

FORMER VALLEJO CRACK
SHIFTED TO TACOMA

VALLEJO, July 22.—Tony Blanco, Vallejo's former crack ball player, has been shifted from Seattle to Tacoma and will play his first game for the league leaders some time this week, according to the present schedule.

The change was made necessary on account of the addition of another umpire on the circuit. A pitcher with Victoria was given the berth and Tacoma was given a Tacoma castoff.

This left Seattle with one more twirler than was necessary, and as Tacoma was short one man, Tony Blanco figured as a logical change.

Blanco had written to friends here stating that he was not at all satisfied with conditions on the Seattle team and would welcome a change.

NOTICE!

The attention of the thousands of patrons and friends of the Oakland Orpheum is respectfully called to the fact that the theater will present on Sunday, July 23, the most extraordinary vaudeville bill, from every point of view that has been staged at the Orpheum for a very long time.

There are about 50,000 regular patrons of this theater, and each of these is quite well assured that the Orpheum bills invariably represent the highest type of modern vaudeville. Each of these patrons also knows that the theater shows are invariably a bargain—that is, they always represent a very large and satisfactory "money's worth" for the price of admission.

We wish to emphasize to each of these 50,000 patrons, however, and to every person who loves the snap, spice and sparkle of superior stage entertainment, to know that the program which we will offer next Sunday will be an extraordinary affair—the keenest, smartest, and altogether most delightful, and incidentally the most expensive vaudeville bill that could possibly be put together.

We desire to call your attention to the fact that there will be numerous "head line" features on the bill, whereas one is deemed ordinarily to be sufficient.

There will be eight magnificent vaudeville acts on this program Sunday, and the total salary roll involved in their engagements would stagger even those who are accustomed to the handling of large amounts. Please read THE TRIBUNE for particulars.

Because of all this we urge to all our many patrons and friends to make it a point to visit the theater during the coming week, and to remind others who may not be regular Orpheum attendants that during the coming week there will be staged a program that is so rich and altogether satisfactory as to be properly labeled

"THE GREATEST YET."

RICHMOND PROVES HEALTHY GROWTH

Increase in Total Assessment
Is Sufficient Demonstration.

Tony Favis Narrowly Escapes
Death When Thrown From Bicycle.

RICHMOND, July 22.—This city is growing. If the increase in the territory being built upon and the increase in the forces of industrial plants did not show it, this year's advance in the total assessment would be a sufficient demonstration. This is a little more than $1,000,000, despite the fact that the State has taken away the railroad assessments. The percentage of assessment has not been made greater. The larger roll is all due to new taxable property.

The county assessment for Richmond is $3,662,000, or one-quarter of the total for Contra Costa county, which is $34,000,000. The city roll just completed is $5,719,630. The Standard Oil plant is assessed by the city at $2,959,795. Wine-haven and some of the other large industries help swell the roll, but it is mostly made up of general property. All property is assessed at low figures.

The tax rate will probably remain at last year's low figure—70 cents—and may go lower.

INNER HARBOR PROJECT.

The people seem to favor the inner harbor project, and the council will call an election to vote on the project. The bond issue of $450,000 to start the work, which the government is expected to carry to completion.

The oil and gas excitement here still exists in a mild form, which will become more intense if a real strike is made. The drill on the Collins ranch well at the edge of the city is now in oil sand. The big bed of asphaltum there has been prospected by Sam Henery, veteran contractor, to be valuable.

Nichols, Cruikshank, Nyrom and the others who are after gas have let a contract to D. S. Valentine of Oil Center to drill the 3000-foot well they are to put down at Richmond and Tunnel avenues.

The well-foot derrick has been up some weeks.

Progress at Pullman is unabated. Many new business houses and residences are being erected in that part of Richmond. This movement to incorporate all the territory of the eastern edge of Richmond to the county line and including the Pullman works, Stege, Rust and Schmidt's Village will be fought by Richmond and the large property owners in the territory embraced. Superintendent F. E. Nichols of the Pullman works has declared against the scheme, saying that if there is any incorporation it must be with Richmond.

Former Valleejo Crack
Shifted to Tacoma

VALLEJO, July 22.—Tony Blanco, Vallejo's former crack ball player, has been shifted from Seattle to Tacoma and will play his first game for the league leaders some time this week, according to the present schedule.

The change was made necessary on account of the addition of another umpire on the circuit. A pitcher with Victoria was given the berth and Tacoma was given a Tacoma castoff.

This left Seattle with one more twirler than was necessary, and as Tacoma was short one man, Tony Blanco figured as a logical change.

Blanco had written to friends here stating that he was not at all satisfied with conditions on the Seattle team and would welcome a change.

SAN LEANDRO WILL HAVE NEW CITY HALL

SAN LEANDRO, July 22.—A movement has been started by the Woodmen of the World, to build a new city hall in this place. A meeting was held Thursday night at which prominent citizens took part in a discussion of the matter.

The speakers were Postmaster C. Q. Rideout, W. J. Locke and T. H. Johnson, in favor of the project, and Charles Smith, George Meyers and Henry Smith against the proposition.

A vote of the entire camp was taken, resulting in an almost unanimous suffrage for the building of a new city hall. A set of resolutions favoring the project will be forwarded to the town trustees.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS
FOR REFRIGERATOR SHIP

MARE ISLAND, July 22.—Although the extent of the repairs on the refrigerator ship Glacier have been announced it is not believed the yard mechanics will get to work on the job until late in August.

It is expected that the Glacier will be in dock at least thirty days. Fifty thousand dollars are to be spent on the repairs.

A Saturday and Sunday at Santa Cruz Beach will please you. This week bonfires, electrical illuminations, burning of a raft of fireworks, red fire at sea, grand band concerts and the Hungarian orchestra will be the program.

Committed Not Found
by Police

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Lying on a blood-soaked mattress in the kitchen of the house where he resided at 1708 Hayes street, the body of Frank Sullivan, a negro barber, was found by Steward Malone of the Park Emergency hospital, who responded to a call at 2:30 o'clock this morning. The man had been murdered beyond the question of a doubt, and the police of the Park station, unable to obtain a good explanation of the affair, arrested Sullivan's wife, Mrs. Dolly Sullivan, and Clifford Johnson, a lodger in the house.

STABBED TO DEATH.

A glance showed the steward that the dead man had been killed from stab wounds in the groin, evidently caused by a dagger or a razor. "My husband came home about midnight," Mrs. Sullivan told Malone. "He was drinking, and wanted him to go to bed, but he said he couldn't get any farther than the kitchen and asked me to bring a mattress. I did so and he lay there until he died. He said he got into a fight with someone, and that's all I know about it."

BOYS HURL DYNAMITE ABOUT DURING PLAY

Three Fond Mothers Are Glad That Lads
Are Alive, but Decide to Spank Them
Just the Same

SANTA MONICA, July 22.—Three fond mothers, resident in the bay district, are devoutly thankful today that they have their little boys with them, still whole and alive, after these boys had had an enjoyable time throwing dynamite at each other.

The lads, Harry Hoage, aged 9 years; Ray Markel, 10, and Paul Thomas, 12, found the dynamite, and the connections had hidden it in the cellar of a demolished hotel. Unaware of the character of the grease-soaked sticks they had unearthed the children began throwing them around and at each other. Two or three sticks rolled out of an alley just as a policeman passed. The policeman jumped away and then started an investigation. He found the lads with the remainder of the explosive and after confiscating it, took them home.

Whispered for the three were the only evil results of the find.

VETERANS DERIDE PRESIDENT JORDAN

Stanford President Is Scored for Belittling "Marching Through Georgia."

BERKELEY, July 22.—It was not the fault of members of Lookout Mountain Post No. 1 of the R. of C. that the women's derided corps that their favorite war song, "Marching Through Georgia," which has been condemned by Dr. David Starr Jordan, wasn't heard by the education in far off Palo Alto last night when it was chanted here by the veterans and their wives in derision of the university president.

The spirit in which the song was rendered indicated that the singers would have enjoyed the realization that Dr. Jordan not only heard but heeded the recitatory courtesies.

WAR SPIRIT ENLIVENED.

The Stanford president's recent declaration that the song should no longer be sung in the schools was the cause of last night's demonstration, which took place at the celebration of the ninth anniversary of Lookout Mountain Relief Corps. Dr. Jordan has declared that the singing of the battle hymn keeps the war spirit alive. And Dr. Jordan is for peace.

Had he looked in upon the indignation meeting at Grand Army headquarters last evening he would have been convinced that the war spirit is growing in vigor instead of diminishing. A prominent Relief Corps woman, who refused to allow her name to be published, in speaking of the incident today said:

"Why doesn't Dr. Jordan recommend that no more chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy be formed? Don't these women have the right to keep the war spirit alive? I imagine that its members sing 'Dixie' too."

FINDS LONG LOST SON IN OAKLAND

SAN DIEGO, July 22.—Henry Elmers, a resident of Oakland, found his father here yesterday after an absence of nearly thirty years. P. A. Elmers, the parent, at work in his cabinet shop, was approached by the Oaklander, who was attracted by his own name on a sign over the door. A short conversation between the two soon brought to light the relationship and a happy reunion followed.

Elmers and his son were separated in Denver in 1880, when Henry Elmers was a boy of 11.

VASSAR SPRINTER WINS A FORTUNE

Victory in Race Gets Chicago
Girl Mine Worth $70,000
as Prize.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Victory over five other girls in a footrace at Calgary, Alberta, three years ago, has brought a fortune of $70,000 to Miss Caroline Canton of Chicago, once Vassar's star sprinter.

After leaving Vassar Miss Canton visited two school chums. The provincial fair was in progress, one of the events being a girls' footrace. A Calgary man offered 1000 shares of stock in a British Columbia mine as a prize. The stock was considered worthless.

A bad taste in the mouth comes from a disordered stomach, and back of that is usually a torpid liver — a condition which invites disease. HERBINE is the remedy needed. It corrects the stomach and makes the liver active and regular. Price 60c. Sold by Watson's drug store, 1001 Washington street.

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Wyatt Earp, well known in sporting circles, who, with Walter Scott and E. Dunn, was arrested last night on the charge of having attempted to swindle J. Y. Peterson, a realty broker, of $2500, was arraigned today in the police court. The time for him to plead was set for Tuesday and his bonds were fixed at $500. The same action was taken with Scott and Dunn.

Being unable to provide bail all of them remained in jail.

They were accused of having planned to swindle Peterson by pretending to let him "break" a faro bank. Peterson told the police about the plan and the three were arrested just as the game was about to begin.

OUTFIT CONFISCATED.

The faro outfit which was confiscated by the police was said by them to be worth $800.

Earp is a well-known character, a gunman with a past, which has made him an interesting and picturesque figure all over the Pacific Coast. For many years he served the Wells Fargo Express Company as a shotgun messenger in the wild regions of the Southwest. His facility with shooting-irons earned him the reputation of a very bad man.

Earp did not earn any laurels as a desirable citizen when he refereed the odiferous Sharkey-Fitzsimmons fiasco, and his place in San Francisco sporting circles was, by common consent, declared vacant.

FROM ALASKA TO NEVADA.

Earp went to Nome and started a saloon there, but he didn't seem to endear himself to the inhabitants of the Alaskan town, and so he "trekked" on more. Even in Nevada he failed to win the confidence of his associates. He ran a saloon in Goldfield until circumstances arose which made him decide that it would be healthier in a different climate.

Now he is in real trouble in this city, charged with trying to work a confidence game which would entrap by several thousand dollars. The situation does not look rosy for Wyatt Earp.

NOGI WILL VISIT HIS FORMER FOES

Japanese General Who Captured Port Arthur Is Enroute to Russia.

LONDON, July 22.—General Nogi, the Japanese hero, who captured Port Arthur from the Russians and assured the success of his country in the battle of Moukden, is about to visit his former foes.

The general, a veteran of many battles, with less of the reticence that distinguishes his fellow countrymen, came to London as a member of the special mission from Japan to the coronation. The head of the mission, Prince Higashi-Fushimi, with the Princess Higashi-Fushimi, after having almost made up his mind to return home through America, finally decided to go by steamer as he came. Admiral Togo, the naval representative on the mission, is going to America at the invitation of the American government after he makes a tour of England, while General Nogi goes to Russia.

The general, when seen before his departure, seemed rather pleased with his prospective trip. He first visits Turkey, doubtless to see what the Germans have done with the Turkish soldier. Then he goes to Berlin for an audience with the Emperor, and from there to St. Petersburg. His host in this Russian capital is to be General Stoeckel, who defended Port Arthur against Nogi, and who was court-martialed for surrendering. The last time the two warriors met was on the day the Russian flag was hauled down and Stoeckel handed his sword to the man who has now invited him to his home. The meeting must be an interesting one.

General Nogi is also anticipating with much pleasure an audience with Emperor Nicholas. Both he and Admiral Togo were very popular in London and received ovations wherever they went. They were among the few who drove to the coronation ceremony at Westminster Abbey in an open carriage and were cheered all along the route. Admiral Togo is quiet and has little to say even to his own countrymen. General Nogi on the other hand is a good companion, and talked continuously of what he had seen and hoped to see.

140 BOYS REPORT TO THE PROBATION OFFICER

Mother and Son Weep When Judge
Orders Lad Confined in Preston
School of Industry

One hundred and forty boys, who have been granted probation by the juvenile court, are reporting from time to time to Assistant Chief Probation Officer Olie Snedigar, their advisor.

The cases in the juvenile court were heard by Judge Everett J. Brown and Judge Harris. One of the most interesting trials was that of John Hannes, who was reported to the probation officer by his mother because he could not be trusted.

"My boy likes the moving picture shows and much better than studies when questioned. He loves adventure, and when he stole money lately from his former employers went to the hills to escape arrest. With the stolen coin he purchased a pocket flash lamp, besides tickets for numerous theatrical performances."

COMMITTED BURGLARIES.

Some time ago John was found delinquent and sentenced to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of San Francisco. While in that institution he committed two burglaries.

After a severe cross-examination Judge Harris set aside the commitment to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society and ordered him to the Preston school of industry. Both mother and child wept as the judge pronounced the sentence.

The diverse and sundry methods of a company of four boys, who were eager to make away with a camera belonging to Hayes Bern on Independence day in De Fremery park playground, were aired in court by the minors. Each told a different story of the temptation that led up to the removal of the photographic instrument. The boys were strangers to Bern, they declared, and only wanted to borrow the camera, merely to pretend that they were taking pictures and incidentally to learn how to work a camera. A quarrel arose and Bern, who decided the return of his camera, was assaulted as the result of his request to regain possession.

BECAME ACQUAINTED.

"After the fight we became acquainted," said Bern.

Judge Harris reprimanded the boys and, speaking to a crippled boy, who was a member of the gang, asked if he should give him another trial. "You think I ought to let you go?" questioned the judge.

"Yes, if you please," he replied.

The same question was asked two other boys, and the answer was framed in a similar manner.

Before the close of the case Bern exhibited the camera and said: "Say, judge, I want to find out whose going to pay for my camera. It's busted."

The judge said he could nothing regarding the matter and dismissed the boys.

Case in Bellevue Hospital Has

Twelve Plague Patients Now
Confined at Swinburne Island.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The cholera guard centered attention today on Bellevue hospital, in the heart of the city, where a case that arouses suspicion has been discovered. Thus far the physicians have been unable to satisfy themselves regarding the nature of the patient's disease.

If the bacteriological examination undertaken today shows the presence of the dread cholera germ he will be hurried to Swinburne Island hospital, where twelve patients are now confined. The suspect is Manuel Bermudez, a Spaniard, who arrived here from Liverpool July 1, a fireman on a tramp steamer originally from South America. Some anxiety has been caused by the fact that the man was taken sick at a sailors' boarding house here before his removal to the hospital.

The cholera death roll at Swinburne is established at eight, and no new cases had been reported among the other immigrants at quarantine. The steamer Roma, which arrived yesterday from Marseilles and Barcelona, still is in quarantine, but since she did not stop at Naples as usual, the health officers expect to be able to give her a clean bill of health and let her dock today.

LAWYERS FOR CAMORRA STRIKE

Court May Have to Stop Proceedings and Start All Over Again.

Prisoners Object to Delay, But Case Is Put Over Until Net Wednesday.

VITERBO, July 22.—The lawyers for the defense have struck, and as a consequence the Camorra trial was adjourned today until next Wednesday to afford them time in which to decide on their future lawyers. Unless some agreement is reached with the court and the lawyers before the sessions are resumed it is probable that the trial will be definitely stopped and later begun all over again.

The trouble began yesterday when Captain Fabroni, one of the crown's best witnesses, in defending himself and associates of the carabinieri, denounced Lawyer Lloy as a suborner of perjury, and Lloy replied in an undignified manner.

STAND ON DIGNITY.

During the exchange all the lawyers left the courtroom and later sent a message to President Bianchi saying that they could not with dignity return to the court if they were not assured of protection. At the same time they said they were taking steps to persuade the offending lawyers to withdraw from the case.

When court opened today only four of the attorneys were present, and they came to lay the case of the defense before the court. They asked the president to postpone the trial until Wednesday, saying they wished in the meantime to consult with their colleagues in Naples and Rome regarding what action they should take. They said they would insist on protection from what they called the provocations of the carabinieri, and intimated that in exchange for this protection they would bring about the withdrawal of Lloy from the defense.

OBJECT TO DELAY.

The accused, with the exception of Bartolozzi, who fell in a fit during the hubbub yesterday, were present and objected to the proposed delay. Ciro Vitozzi, the president, said: "The protraction of this agony is killing us."

When the postponement came the prisoners left the cage, protesting that between the uncompromising attitude of the lawyers on the one hand, and the red tape of the president on the other, they had already suffered five years' imprisonment.

MARTINEZ VOTES ON $65,000 BONDS

Proposition to Improve Water Front Is Submitted to Vote of the People.

MARTINEZ, July 22.—This city is today having a bond election for the purpose of voting bonds to the amount of $65,000 to improve the waterfront. The movement has been brought prominently before the citizens by an active campaign inaugurated by the supporters of the issue, and it is thought that the bonds will carry by a large majority.

The bond issue is in three parts: First, whether the city shall spend $15,000 to acquire waterfront property of the Houghton estate, consisting of tidelands fronting on the Carquinez straits, as the site of a wharf and landing place for vessels; second, whether the town shall incur an indebtedness of $35,000 for the acquisition, construction and completion of the waterfront and necessary improvements, including a municipal wharf and landing place; and third, whether $15,000 shall be expended for a city hall site.

MASQUERADING GIRL-WIFE HERE

Mrs. Mona Hodges Debolt Finds Home With Salvation Army.

Mrs. Mona Hodges Debolt, the 17-year-old girl-wife arrested recently in male attire, and who was committed yesterday morning to the Oakland Salvation Army Home by Superior Judge J. A. Plummer of Stockton, arrived at the local institution this morning. It is not known just how long the young woman will be held.

The 17-year-old wife, at the time of her arrest, stated that wearing men's clothes was the only way she could escape starvation. For several months she earned a livelihood by milking cows at various ranches in San Joaquin and other counties.

The young woman's husband, who is in Bakersfield, recently wrote to her, it is said, begging her to come back to him and expressing regret at his failure to provide for her. The girl's mother died two years ago.

ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE. "Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful disease had looked like it, sure enough. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and I did so, and was completely cured. I now feel that I owe my life to this great and long cure. # SEEK $36,453 REDUCTION IN THEIR ASSESSMENT

E. B. and A. L. Stone Company's Petition Is Denied by Supervisors, but Mee Estate Has Taxes Lowered

The supervisors met this morning and adjourned at noon as a county board of equalization, after considering a number of applications for reduction of assessments. Among the applications were those from the E. B. & A. L. Stone Co. and the Mee Estate Company.

The E. B. & A. L. Stone Co. asked for a reduction on property in Stone orchard, Elmhurst, Stonehurst and Cunha, and Elmhurst tract. The total erroneous assessment as alleged was $10,350, the total alleged value, $13,898.50; the reduction sought, $35,453. The petitioners claimed that the property, comprising several hundred parcels, had not been assessed as required by law, under section 2, article 13 of the Constitution, and section 2627 of the political code, which it was contended requires "that cultivated and uncultivated land of the same quality and similarly situated, shall be assessed at the same value."

The contention of the Stone company in brief is that the lots which have been sold in the tracts above referred to should not be assessed at a higher figure than is the acreage property surrounding them. This same objection was made at the meeting of the board of equalization one year ago, but the protest was denied, since which time the applicants have filed a suit in the Superior Court for the purpose of setting aside the assessment. The matter has not been determined by the court.

The application was denied.

REDUCTION GRANTED.

I. Hubert Mee appeared for a reduction in the assessment of the property of the Mee estate company, which was assessed at $288,900. A reduction was granted to $215,500, which means a net increase over the assessment of one year ago of $25,000. There are a number of large acreage tracts in the estate and on several of those the assessment was lowered. The stand, while upon each of two other tracts, also of acreage property, the assessment was raised, one tract being increased from $65,000 to $75,000 and another from $75,000 to $85,000. The property is situated in Emeryville, in the vicinity of the race track, Shellmound Park and beyond.

The assessment on a structure being constructed on Thermal tract by the Plymouth Church, on Piedmont avenue at Laurel street, was canceled for the reason that the structure is to be used exclusively for religious purposes.

The assessment on improvements owned by W. L. Yates, comprising the old Mastick house, Alameda, from $2500 to $1000, was granted.

The same disposition was made of the request of L. E. Fenton on improvements of lots 25, 26 and 27, block B, in Piedmont Vista tract, from $1800 to $1400. A reduction was also granted Eya B. Brand, on lot near Thirteenth avenue and East Twenty-first street, from $2300 to $1500.

PROPERTY GOES TO OAKLAND.

At the instance of E. C. Sessions, the property in the East Oakland basin, which has heretofore been claimed by the petitioner under a certain patent from the state, but which on the 1st of this month became the property of the city of Oakland, the assessment was made a nominal one of $100. Sessions appeared to state that hereafter the property referred to comprising five parcels on which factories are now located, would be paid by the city of Oakland.

Of the entire tract, Sessions retained only a small piece of land upon which the above nominal assessment was allowed, the applicant declaring that, under the new arrangement with the city, by which he and the other occupants of the property became tenants of Oakland, the occupants are paying twice as much for leases as they formerly paid as taxes.

Other applications for reductions of assessments were disposed of as follows:

Elizabeth Marrow, improvements, lots 15 and 16, block 37-507, from $800 to $400; realty from $1600 to $600; denied.

O. and H. Olson, part of lot 3, block 1-249, from $2500 to $1000; granted to $1800.

A. B. Hinckley, lots 1 to 12, block 15-1235, from $1000 to $600; granted.

Douglas L. Clarke, improvements, part of lots 14 and 15, block B, Leviston tract, from $1500 to $1200; denied.

Leo T. Kennedy, reduction in improvements, lot 40, block 1998, Berkeley, from $600; granted.

C. S. Merrill for Ellen S. Moss, on two houses in Berkeley near Bancroft way and Shattuck avenue, from $2000 to $1000; granted.

Edward C. Gilbert, improvements, lots 22 and 2, block 10, Walker tract, from $600 to $300; granted.

PETITION DENIED.

Hulda M. Kruger, lots 10, block T-112, from $700 to $100; improvements, from $1600 to $200; denied.

Mima Jacobs, lots 14 and 15, block 251, from $1300 to $800; improvements from $1800 to $600; improvements reduced from $1800 to $1200.

Charles J. P. Hoehen, lot 1, block G-985, improvements from $1400 to $1000; denied.

Charles E. Fuller, lot 1, block B-805, personal property from $500 to $350; granted.

C. W. Parker, improvements, Piedmont Building Association, canceled because of destruction of house by fire.

John M. Neal, lots 7 and 8, block 199, realty from $800 to $700; improvements from $1200 to $1000; granted as to improvements.

T. H. Rich, lot 15 and part of lot 14, block 184, from $2500 to $2100; granted.

E. M. Jacquemin, improvements lot 21, block 1880, Berkeley, from $900 to $700; granted.

Mrs. Ella S. Graves, lots 73 and 74, Palo Vista tract, from $200 to $100; denied.

H. N. Jacobs, block 282, realty from $1200 to $900; improvements from $1800 to $1500; granted as to improvements.

The meeting was presided over by Supervisor Kelley, who was chairman of the board of supervisors sitting as a county board of equalization. All the members were present except Supervisor Foss of Berkeley.

HINES' ACTIVITIES ARE GIVEN THE ACID TEST

Senate Committee Inquires Into Efforts to Influence Vote on Unsealing of Lorimer

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The activities of Edward Hines, whose name has been linked with the election of Senator Lorimer, to influence the vote of the Senate last spring on unsealing the Illinois senator were inquired into today by the Senate Lorimer committee. Hines was on the stand again and testified that he called on President W. C. Brown of the New York Central during the Lorimer fight in the Senate. Hines was asked if he was seeking to influence the vote of Senator Depew. He answered in the negative.

Carl R. Nelson, private stenographer to Hines, testified that the latter was continuously in Washington during February, 1909, except for occasional trips to New York. The object of this was to show that Hines was not in Chicago during the latter part of February, when Clarence S. Funk said Hines called upon him about the famous Union League Club conversation. Funk said Hines asked him to contribute to a Lorimer election fund but Hines said Funk offered to contribute.

ALL MONEY NECESSARY.

Hines testified today about a proposal to him to purchase Wirt H. Cook's stock in the Virginia and Rainy Lake Company. Cook testified that Hines, over the telephone, said he would go to Springfield on the day Lorimer was elected "with all the money necessary."

"It would have taken about $300,000 to purchase Cook's stock. As I had previously received a letter from him which I figured was in the nature of blackmail I decided not to buy the stock," declared Hines. "He claimed he would make some exposure unless I purchased his stock."

Hines declined to give his conversation with President Brown "because Mr. Brown might object." He said, however, that Lorimer's name was mentioned, although Hines did not intend to discuss Lorimer when he went to call, he said. "Had you any business in Washington at that time other than the Lorimer matter?" asked Senator Jones.

"No, sir."

"Did you go out into the States and write letters asking your friends to bring pressure to bear on senators?" suggested Attorney Marble for the committee.

"Well, I would not say pressure. I wrote to some lumbermen who knew some of the things told here were not the truth, to write their senators, explaining the facts."

Hines' examination was interrupted by adjournment.

The progress and prosperity committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting last night, was addressed by Secretary A. A. Denison of the Chamber on the question of the proposed state highway. Denison has been attending several of the meetings held under the auspices of the various improvement clubs and commercial organizations about the northern part of the state and spoke to the committee of his visits in these places, with the features of the movement considered.

This was in line with the active part which the Oakland body contemplates playing in a campaign to secure part of the $18,000,000 bond issue for Alameda county.

SOCIETY TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE

There will be special music and an address by A. M. Sapiro on "Zionism—A People's Ideal."

Mrs. A. Hollingsworth and Mrs. Hattie Menartolm are going to Los Angeles next week to visit friends. They will tour southern California and northern Mexico for six weeks.

DEATH OF NOTED OPERA SINGER CAUSES REGRET

RICARDO DE S. ENCARNAO, well known opera singer of Oakland, who died yesterday as the result of an operation for throat trouble.

The death of Ricardo de S. Encarnacao, which was announced in THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE last night, has caused widespread regret among his many friends in this city and particularly in the Portuguese colony of Alameda county.

Encarnacao was 34 years old and a native of St. Michael, Portugal. When he was 16 years of age he joined the famous San Carlos opera company, then playing in Milan. Later he joined the Coliseum and Thalia opera companies, playing in his home city. Later he went to New York and of recent years has been touring the world, appearing in many concerts, the latest being in San Francisco during the recent convention of the National Education Association. Several months ago he appeared at the Greek theater, Berkeley, in the Sunday concert.

Encarnacao died yesterday morning while under the influence of an anesthetic at St. Anthony's hospital, where he was being operated upon by Dr. M. C. Enos for a throat malady which has been bothering him for the past two years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Adele Encarnacao, and a daughter, Telemia. The funeral services will be held from the Portuguese church at Seventh and Chestnut streets Tuesday morning, a high mass being celebrated on the occasion. The interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

FACES DOUBLE ORDEAL

SANTA ROSA, July 22.—A venire for forty jurors was issued by Judge Seawell for the trial of Fred Schwartz, member of a prominent pioneer family, who shot and killed his two sisters at Healdsburg. The jurors next week will pass upon the question as to whether Schwartz was insane at the time he committed the double murder. If sane, he will be put on his trial for murder; if insane, he will be committed to an asylum. Much interest has been aroused over the case.

WOMEN SING WHILE MEN FIGHT AT TEXAS POLLS

State Will Stay Wet, Says Governor Colquill, but "Dry" Supporters Are Casting a Heavy Vote

DALLAS, Tex., July 22.—Governor Oscar B. Colquill today said that Texas would repudiate the doctrine of statewide prohibition in the election today by a majority of at least 100,000 votes. Several hundred school children who appeared at the polls, followed him to the polls, singing "Texas Going Dry."

In spite of the bad weather in many towns and cities in the northern portion among the "dry" strongholds, a record-breaking vote is being polled today. The vote is on a constitutional amendment to prohibit both the sale and manufacture of liquor.

At Lockhart, in the central portions of the state, Richard Bragg, a negro, was shot and seriously wounded early today after returning from a political rally for negroes.

One election row was reported early from Paris, in north Texas, where two prominent men of opposing factions turned their umbrellas into weapons and painfully injured each other's heads.

In many places women and children have projected their influence into the campaign during the last twenty-four hours by singing and serving lunches. About 2000 women have undertaken an all-day fast to further the cause of prohibition.

SAN FRANCISCO SOCIETY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Mrs. Louis Hertz was hostess last evening at what might be called an "Adamless Eden dinner," but the guests declared that it was none the less enjoyable on account of the absence of men. A delightful musical followed a delicious menu. Mrs. Hertz' dinner quite reminded those who were present of other dinners that have taken place in our city when Mrs. William H. Crocker and a coterie of intellectual women met from time to time and many a man was present.

The ladies donned their handiwork frocks and, besides admiring one's latest importations, discussed the various topics of the day. Some of the shining lights at Mrs. Crocker's affairs were Mrs. James O. Hertz, Mrs. Carter Fitch Pomeroy, Mrs. Norman McLaren, Mrs. John Johns, Miss Kauffmann, Mrs. J. R. K. Nuttall, Mrs. William Bowers Brown and Mrs. James Tucker. Perhaps Mrs. Hertz's entertainment will restore the fad which flourished under Mrs. Crocker's guidance a dozen years ago.

Mrs. M. Meir entertained at a delightful luncheon in San Rafael yesterday, after which the hostess and her guests went motoring.

Mr. and Mrs. James Carolan are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. William Timlow, and little Miss Emily Timlow at their Buchanan street home. Mrs. Timlow arrived yesterday from Lake Tahoe. She spent a few days there en route from New Jersey, where she has lived since her marriage. Later in the month the Carolans and the Timlows are going to San Francisco to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harry Post. Miss Emily Carolan, who is at present in Paris, is suffering from an attack of scarlet fever, which has caused her relatives and friends no little concern. She is better now, and expects to sail for America next month.

Mr. and Mrs. James Carolan and their son, Dr. Herbert Carolan, met Mrs. Timlow at Tahoe and accompanied her to San Francisco.

Mrs. J. Loeb and her two sons, Mr. Albert Loeb and Mr. Ben Loeb, are spending the summer at Lake Tahoe, at the Tallac, and will return to their apartments at the Richelieu about September 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Blanding and Miss Henrietta Blanding are going over to Europe for the summer. Mrs. Edith Coleman and Miss Lena Blanding will spend the remainder of the summer as their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schlessinger are at Byron Springs, and will remain here until August 1, when they will return to reside at the Hotel Richelieu.

San Francisco friends of Ivan Langstroth will be distressed to hear of his serious illness in Berkeley, where he went last summer to study music. Young Langstroth underwent an operation for appendicitis quite recently and is not out of danger yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wengenheim have returned from Boston, where they have enjoyed a delightful visit with their daughters, Mrs. Koshland and Mrs. Sidney Schuman.

The news that General Tasker Bliss and Mrs. Bliss are coming to remain here for two or three months more will be hailed with delight by their many friends.

Society folk down the peninsula are becoming genuine "fans," as will be seen from the fact that a large crowd will gather at the San Mateo Polo Club to witness a contest between the Blingumites and the gallant nine of the Crocker National bank.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Baer, formerly of Los Angeles, who have come to this city to reside permanently, since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Baer have occupied a very attractive home in Martinez, where Mr. Baer has business interests.

Miss Annette Levy has just returned from a five weeks' sojourn in Guerneville, on the Russian river.

Mrs. Charles Morris, who was Miss Kathleen Thompson, is entertaining her sisters, Mrs. Charles Conway Hartigan and Miss Theresa Thompson, at their home in New York City. Mrs. Hartigan and Miss Thompson expect to return to San Francisco before the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gottlieb have returned from Santa Barbara, where they had a very delightful time.

Major Frank Ferguson, U. S. A., has been ordered to Fort Leavenworth, and will leave for his new station the 6th of August. Major Ferguson was one of the beaux at all the large entertainments last winter, and more than one belle is regretting his departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Beaver are planning to motor to Lake Tahoe some time in August. They will be accompanied by their daughter, Miss Isabel Beaver, and Miss Dora Winn. Miss Beaver and Miss Winn have always been chums, and Miss Beaver made her first formal bow this summer at a dance given in her honor at the Boardman home in Berkeley.

When last heard from, Mr. and Mrs. Toot Walker had forsaken London and were motoring in France. Mrs. Walker was Miss Mary Keeney.

Mrs. Russell Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Pratt expect to spend the greater part of the summer at the Hotel Del Monte. On their return to San Francisco in the fall Mrs. Wilson will occupy her own home at Carleton street.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will take possession of their house a block below.

Douglas Alexander left last evening for Lake Tahoe, where he has gone to spend a week or two with Lloyd Evis.

Mrs. William Tevis, her twin sons and Miss Lily O'Connor are in Marineland, where they will remain for several weeks.

Miss Elizabeth Woods is spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Howard at their beautiful home in San Mateo.

Edward Hopkins, Miss Florence Hopkins and Miss Marian Zeile are at Tahoe. They motored to the lake in the Hopkins' automobile, and will spend a week or more at the tavern.

The officers of the United States cruiser Maryland are planning to give a matinee dance complimentary to Miss Elsie Obernick of New York, who is visiting Miss Leonard West of the Presidio. Miss West and Miss Obernick are at present the guests of Miss Madeline Carlin of Vallejo.

Mrs. Will D. Shea will be hostess at a garden party and luncheon on the 25th of this month at the Shea's beautiful country place at Fair Oaks.

Miss Clarel Kirby entertained the following friends at her home on Bush street: Miss Daisy Appham, Miss Evelyn Woodworth, Miss Anna Bages, Messrs. Harmer Countryman, Arthur Code, Bob Arnold and Charlie Foster. Miss Kirby has just returned from Santa Cruz, where she took part very successfully in the tennis tournament.

EXTRADITION CASE UP TO WEBB, SAYS GOVERNOR

Fate of Lewis J. Wilde, Banker, in Hands of Attorney General.

Will Sign Papers, However, if State's Attorney Says Crime Was Committed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The entire matter of extraditing Lewis J. Wilde, the San Diego banker wanted in Portland on the charge of embezzling $90,000 from the Oregon Trust and Savings bank, now rests with Attorney-General Webb.

Governor Johnson announced today that if Webb decides that a crime has been committed he will sign the papers. If otherwise he will refuse to approve them. District Attorney Cameron of San Diego and Clarence Darrow will consult with him in regard to the facts.

When the attorneys gathered at noon for the expected decision Governor Johnson produced an opinion by the attorney-general based on a statement of facts made by Cameron.

Webb's opinion was that Wilde did not embezzle from the bank because of sharing his large commission in the $90,000 bonds in which Cashier Morris, now doing time in the Oregon prison on any other charge, was implicated. He held that the bank received the face value of the bonds, even though their intrinsic worth was comparatively small.

In reply, Cameron said he could show that to acquire such an amount of bonds it would be necessary to violate the bank laws, that Wilde knew this fact at the time of the sale and thus acted with criminal intent.

Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense in the Los Angeles dynamite cases, appeared at the hearing and joined in the discussion. He and Cameron will now go over the facts with Webb.

MISS D. W. BRYAN WILL BE A BRIDE

Alameda Girl to Wed Son of Madera Banker on August 9.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The marriage of Miss Dorothy Willis Bryan, daughter of Mrs. George D. McLaughlin of 2055 San Antonio avenue, Alameda, and John Griffith Roberts, son of Return Roberts, a Madera banker, will take place at noon, August 9, at the Palace Hotel, where an improvised floral chapel will be ranged in one of the private dining rooms. Rev. Waterman of Fresno, who christened Miss Bryan in her infancy, will be officiating clergyman. Miss Gwendolyn Barton of Fresno will be the maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Misses Helen Sinclair and Evelyn Woodworth of this city.

Frank R. Roberts will be his brother's best man and Arthur Eberle and Arthur Williams will be the ushers. A wedding breakfast will follow the ceremony, after which the young couple will leave for an extended honeymoon trip. They will reside in Madera, where the bridegroom's family, one of the oldest and wealthiest in the San Joaquin valley, has been established in a handsome estate for many years.

Miss Bryan is a graduate of a fashionable school in this city and though well known in the sub-debutante set, has not yet made her formal bow to society. Her parents until recently resided in a handsome home in Presidio Terrace. The bride-elect is a girl of notable beauty and charm of manner. She has just returned from New York, whither she and her mother went to purchase her trousseau, which is said to be bewildering in its beauty.

GREATER SAN FRANCISCO PLAN MEETS OPPOSITION

At a meeting of the executive board of the Progress and Prosperity Committee, of which Ed B. Webster is chairman, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The citizens of San Francisco, California, have again organized for the purpose of bringing about the consolidation of the cities bordering upon and connected with San Francisco bay into a Greater San Francisco from areas not in any sense contiguous, and

Whereas, Conditions existing or that may exist are contrary and adverse to the best interests and development of the cities on the eastern shore of San Francisco bay, and

Whereas, We believe that the citizens of the cities of the continental side of San Francisco bay should by reason of their close relation and contiguous areas be united into one city and county government; now, therefore be it

Resolved, That a call be made to the citizens of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Emeryville, Richmond, Piedmont and other districts that an organization be formed for the purpose of offsetting the efforts of the San Francisco organization and by our own efforts create for ourselves that which appears to be such a desirable thing for the citizens of San Francisco.

Adopted July 19, 1911.

ED B. WEBSTER, Chairman.

Bailey and His Motives and Methods.

Some of the Democratic newspapers are taunting Senator Bailey of Texas with being a Republican and a protectionist. Bailey is neither. While Democrats cannot be blamed for objecting to the Texas Senator's tactics and the adroitness with which he throws obstacles in the way of their tariff program, they are not justified in charging Bailey up to the Republican party nor his service to special interests as due to any friendly feeling for protection. Bailey is theoretically a free trader, but practically he is for anything that will be to the advantage of Bailey and the interests he serves. By one device or another he is perpetually trying to prevent legislative interference with those interests.

When he is lending his aid to a protected industry, his efforts are put forth to prevent a correction of some abuse of the protective policy, some tariff working that operates to the special advantage of a few and to the general disadvantage of the public at large. What he is trying to do is to defeat tariff reforms whether projected along protective or free trade lines.

It follows that Bailey is a foe to true protection; he labors to defend its abuses, and when he argues strenuously for equity in the abstract he is doing his stoutest work to prevent the application of equity in some concrete instance. To serve his purpose he alternates between the free traders and the extreme protectionists. Instead of a tariff for protection or a tariff for revenue with incidental protection he wants a tariff that will foster privilege and be an agency for extortion—that or absolute free trade. He knows that absolute free trade is an impossibility under our form of government, and knows equally well that a tariff framed to collect the same percentage of revenue on all imports is a ridiculous fantasy, yet he contends for one or the other, or adopts the alternative of standing for indefensible features of the protective tariff. Every measure of tariff reform is opposed by him, either because it goes too far or does not go far enough.

In respect to the tariff Bailey is no more in accord with the Republican policy of protection than he is with his party associates. He is simply striving for an end, and that end is the frustration of all attempts to equalize the tariff and moderate the duties which are either prohibitory or are merely agencies for organized greed. It is not because he is a Republican and a protectionist that he puts forth these efforts, but because he is employing his ability as an orator and a parliamentarian to serve certain interests in which he takes more than a friendly interest.

Bailey would be a great man if he were sincere and straightforward, but unfortunately he is neither. The lion in him is subordinated to the instincts of the jackal. Some of his most impassioned speeches have been made to serve paltry ends, or justify betrayal of the public interests, or party disloyalty. Instead of trying to lead he tries to gull the people; the fine powers of his mind are prostituted to ignoble purposes, and his loftiest professions cloak ulterior designs. He is most eloquent in expressing devotion to public interests when he is striving to do a turn for private interests which are seeking to grab an unjust share of the common earnings of the people.

It is one of the ironies of politics, likewise one of the penalties of humbug, that insurgency should have died in the last ditch of standpatism. Calling themselves progressives, the La Follette crowd set their faces against the most progressive economical measure presented to this generation of Americans; crying that the people must rule, they resisted to the last gasp a proposition the people demanded, and demanding relief from trust exaction they endeavored by every means in their power to prevent release from the exaction. During the last campaign they inveighed against dilatory and indirect methods in Congress, yet ever since the extra session began they have resorted to all the expedients of delay, all the tricks of indirection. As an example of inconsistency, their course on the reciprocity bill is only equaled by its folly and impotence.

The building records and the bank clearings continue to show the growth and progress of Oakland. They have only to be studied to prove that Oakland is rapidly going ahead. The man who buys and builds here now will hereafter have occasion to congratulate himself on his wisdom.

Reciprocity with Canada has at last become a certainty. The bill ratifying the agreement entered into with the diplomatic representatives of Canada has passed the Senate in its original form. It had previously passed the House in the form submitted by the President, and now only needs the President's signature to make it effective, so far as this country is concerned. That it will be ratified by the Canadian Parliament is conceded, for the Laurier government is committed to it and must put it through or fall. But public sentiment in the Dominion is so strongly in favor of the reciprocity agreement that its ratification by the Dominion Parliament is not a question of doubt. Taft has won the battle he has waged so long for freer trade relations between the Canadians and the people of the United States.

One must admire the pluck of San Diego. She is going ahead with her 1915 fair with as much vim and vigor as if San Francisco were not going to hold a great international exposition the same year. She has selected a site and broken ground for the structures and other improvements. San Francisco would do well to emulate San Diego's example in some respects.

Roosevelt's Extraordinary Silence.

Now that the reciprocity bill has passed the Senate in the form that it came from the House, it is pertinent to examine Ex-President Roosevelt's position in this question. What are his views on reciprocity? Does anybody know them; has anybody heard them?

Colonel Roosevelt has written and talked of a great many public matters since he returned from Africa, but he has let the tariff alone. He made a number of political speeches during the last campaign, when the Payne-Aldrich law was under fire, but he never once expressed an opinion regarding that measure; he ignored the chief issue of the campaign, and gave his personal endorsement to men who voted for and against the bill in Congress. More recently he denounced international arbitration, without, however, specifically naming the arbitration treaty with Great Britain, but he has kept mum about reciprocity with Canada.

For months the battle over reciprocity raged all round him, but the Colonel remained silent. He has not yet told the people how he stands on either reciprocity or the question of tariff revision. Why this extraordinary reticence? It is not the Colonel's way to remain silent when a row is going on.

He was ready enough to talk about race suicide and arbitration, but he never had anything to say about the tariff. He has never given the people the benefit of his advice on reciprocity. It is singular that the Colonel should have held his tongue on this important matter. Perhaps he never heard of it.

The Air Race---Which Wins?

—BALTIMORE-AMERICAN.

La Follette's Wood Pulp Sophistry.

Senator La Follette says the newspapers should not have advocated the ratification of the reciprocity agreement with Canada because it provides for the admission of wood pulp and print paper from Canada free of duty, which is to the benefit of publishers. He admits, however, that print paper should be placed on the free list, which is equivalent to saying that the existing duties on paper and wood pulp are oppressive and unjust. Only that newspapers being victims of this exaction should not complain of it; that they should not advocate reciprocity because they will incidentally be benefited by the remission of the duties on wood pulp and white paper.

In other words, he contends that the victims of robbery should not cry out against it, that no person should advocate legislation of general benefit to the country if he shares in some of the incidental benefits. The proposition has only to be stated to be condemned as obnoxious to good sense and sound public policy. It is a poor excuse for a course of conduct that cannot be otherwise justified.

According to La Follette, the attitude of the newspapers with respect to Canadian reciprocity is analogous to that of the Senator or Congressman who votes for a measure that confers upon him an individual benefit. The newspapers do not bear the same relation to the people that representatives in Congress do nor is the remission of duty on print paper imported from Canada or elsewhere a measure of individual benefit. It is only one of the features of the reciprocity agreement, and a minor one at that, and is not in any sense the motive for the agreement. It opens our market to the timber products of Canada and abates an oppressive and predatory domestic monopoly.

The Wisconsin Senator would have us believe that the farmers are interested in letting this monopoly go undisturbed. His contention is as hollow as the Mormon pretense that making bigamous marriages felonious was an act of religious persecution. He is making the farmers do duty for the timber and paper monopolists and scolding the newspapers for not submitting to robbery without protest. He is fighting the battle of the monopolists, but all the time he is shedding tears over imaginary woes of the farmers. Why does La Follette try to serve the timber barons of his State under false pretenses?

Since 1900 the center of population has moved west thirty-one miles. That is a hint for all enterprising men to follow. Come west, young men, and keep on coming till you get to California. You will be ready to stop when you get here and you will never want to move again.

La Follette is now in a position to appreciate the feelings of the bull that tried to butt the locomotive off the track.

PROFANITY

The report that individuals have been punished in two towns in the South for using profane language is of the utmost importance to that small minority of persons who hold that a proper familiarity with the English language is worth while.

There is, it must be conceded, a shocking degree of ignorance of the English language by people who should speak it more or less correctly. The average high school graduate has only the haziest knowledge of it; a great many college graduates flounder in its simplest whirlingpools with pathetic helplessness. The double negative is indulged in by perhaps 60 per cent of our entire population. Our most charming young women usually exhibit a knowledge of only half a dozen adjectives, while the average man abouttown has to rely upon a practiced urbanity when he converses with anyone who knows the English language. One is constantly reminded of Dr.

Johnson's fishwoman, who believed herself to be morally injured when he referred to her as a polyhedron.

The man who uses profane language is, of course, a man who cannot express himself forcibly by any other terms. Profanity and morality haven't anything like the relationship which old-fashioned people held to be the case. We have heard of a retired ship captain who would swear copiously when he was prevented from attending religious services on time, and even profane parsons and swearing deacons have been lauded by our poets and singers.

But the man who has not experienced the satisfaction of finding the right adjective for a nice occasion has missed one of the most exquisite pleasures known to the race. The man who uses profane language may be compared with one who would pluck a rose with a pair of tongs. He may do his work effectually, but he lacks affection and good taste.

WORLD-WIDE RAILROAD BOOM

The United States has such a signal lead over all other countries in railroad mileage that we can afford to view with complacency the statement that other parts of the world, including China and Africa, are now giving us the go-by in new construction. Statistics covering all the railroads throughout the world at the close of 1909 show that the United States has approximately as much mileage as Europe and Asia combined, and also that the new world combined has 50,000 miles more than the old, thus affording better facilities for communication and traffic for its 115,000,000 inhabitants than the 1,250,000,000 of the old world can boast.

The recent severe check on expansion which the United States system of lines received may put us further down the list as to proportionate increase, but even should construction come to a standstill our supremacy could not be threatened in many years to come. This comparison conveys a good idea of the proportions the railway system of the world may some day attain, and as the United States probably will double the present mileage eventually, a corresponding fullness of development elsewhere will make the present total of 625,000 miles for the world look rather insignificant. And as for the item of capital invested in the end, the amount will have soared out of sight of the present total of $51,000,000, considerable as the sum looks.—Washington Post.

Bachelor Musings

A very few men make money; the rest have to earn it.

Every tailor knows a lot of promising young men.

A man can make himself much better looking to a woman by her marrying him.

A fortune-hunting girl evidently believes that her husband's means will justify the ends.

A man pays a woman compliments before marriage. Afterward he pays her bills.

Getting chances and taking chances are so mighty different most people don't seem to realize it.

When a man brings a present home for his wife it's a sign he is going to try to spend the evening out.

When a man and a girl are engaged they have a sort of free license to act just as crazy as they can.

The weather saves lots of people from being dumb at a party, but they'd be more interesting if it didn't.

A girl marries a man because she wants to, and he marries her because she makes him think he wants to.

KEEP THE TRADITIONS

The necessity of guarding our traditions has been rendered acute by the havoc that has been wrought among them of recent years. It may be no great loss to give up the story of Jefferson's riding to the capitol on his horse, and having tied it to the fence, going inside to take the oath of inauguration—it is an inherently incredible tale, anyway—but the immortal cherry tree was nearer our hearts. The events connected with its brief career really ought to have happened. Nor can one surrender without a pang his vision of Pocahontas staving the jaws of death at the risk of parental displeasure. Nevertheless, all these and many more must be sorrowfully but firmly relegated to the realm of might-have-beens. The scalpel of the investigator has been too much for them. But there is no need of doubting everything merely because much has been undermined. Rather should we cling the more closely to those episodes against which history has been unable to bring in a more conclusive verdict. The oldest way to wipe out a debt is to pay the fellow back in his own coin. The man who loses his head cannot be trusted with any other portion of his anatomy. The politician, like a good Christian, is happy when he can make his calling and election sure. Hospitality is a virtue of the poor, the luxury of the rich and the opportunity of the impetuous. The dressmakers have done more than the preachers to keep the churches full at Easter. It has been remarked that there is no rest for the wicked, and very little for the good when the wicked are about.

WAYSIDE WISDOM

Fools and their back hair are soon parted.

Is a poor rule that works no good either way.

As this world goes, it is easy enough to get around.

Leisure is necessary for the Lenten repentance of the average man.

The oldest way to wipe out a debt is to pay the fellow back in his own coin.

The man who loses his head cannot be trusted with any other portion of his anatomy.

The politician, like a good Christian, is happy when he can make his calling and election sure.

Hospitality is a virtue of the poor, the luxury of the rich and the opportunity of the impetuous.

The dressmakers have done more than the preachers to keep the churches full at Easter.

It has been remarked that there is no rest for the wicked, and very little for the good when the wicked are about.

TRAMP FARMS

Gov. Dix has recently expressed approval of the plan for establishing a farm colony upon which tramps and vagrants may be set to work. The plan is perhaps as good as any yet devised for accomplishing that result. It costs the State about $2,000,000 annually to support these classes of the population. That is a large sum to expend for maintaining in idleness sturdy beggars and loafers, who frequently become more than idlers. Moreover, there are reasons for believing that under a proper supervision a fair percentage of these wails can be made into industrious and self-respecting people. At any rate a season of work on a State farm would do them more good than twice the time in prison. Once well interested in working for himself, the future of the reformed tramp will be assured, for in every rural district there is a demand for farm hands.—New York World.

SEA SUPERSTITIONS

Those who go down to the sea in ships, whose name ends in A rests also under an evil spell.

For instance, H. M. S. Victoria, sunk in the Mediterranean, is still fresh in the memory of Englishmen. Other well-known instances are the Stella, lost off the Channel Islands; the Aegreus, ashore on the west coast of America; the Cobra, a destroyer which broke her back in the North Sea on her maiden voyage; and the Sardinia, burned in harbor at Malta.

The fate of the last-named vessel, in the light of the two superstitions already mentioned, may be fairly said to have been preordained, for in addition to her name ending with the letter A, she had during her career borne at least one other, viz., Gulf of Corcovado.

A very common superstition among sailors of today is that which attaches an evil influence to a particular member of a crew and sometimes to a passenger. Equally common is the belief which attaches to a particular man the contrary reputation of possessing a personality or quality tending to good luck and according to which the vessel, he sails in is blessed by his presence, inasmuch as whatever the vicissitudes of the voyage the issue will be favorable.—London Globe.

WATER RESOURCES

The present status of our water resource utilization does not make a very good showing. The available water-power of our rivers is estimated at more than 200,000,000 horsepower, of which about 6,000,000 are so far developed. Of all the water supply in our rivers, about 90 per cent wastes annually in freshets and floods. The damages from floods during the last decade to railroad properties are estimated at $80,000,000, and all damages during that period at $700,000,000; about 500,000,000 cubic yards of surface soil are annually washed off by floods. The value of our water resources lies in their utilization, but these conditions reveal the fact that only about 2 per cent is put to service, and that the economical benefits of this service are absolutely wiped out by the overwhelming losses that by investing $500,000,000 in water conservation our inland waterway would be so improved as to realize a saving in annual transportation cost of $250,000,000, an annual flood destruction would be reduced by $100,000,000, and forest fire damages would be lessened by $25,000,000, and that the value of the thereby created water power resources would compensate for this investment and for its continuance at the rate of $50,000,000 yearly.

Water-power developments in the United States are practically at a standstill, while our neighbors to the north are in the midst of the greatest development activity. Two causes combine in retarding such developments at the present time in the United States; the first is the unsound methods of exploiting and developing water-powers, while the second lies in the lack of harmonious and effective co-operation between the interests controlling these opportunities. The remedy for the first would be secured by supervision, which would be a guarantee that these enterprises merit the confidence of the investing public; and for the second, by such fixed and uniform federal and state co-operative policies as would create river-flow regulation and, consequently, make resourceful development a certainty.—Engineering Magazine.

20 YEARS AGO IN OAKLAND

Up to this afternoon, the fund that is being collected as a bonus for the building of an electric line to Hayward had reached a total of $3550. M. J. Keller, Sol Kahn and D. W. Kirkland have charge of the collection.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon the Grant school on Broadway was discovered on fire.

Hugh Craig and family of Piedmont who have been rusticiating in the mountains, have returned.

Among the Oaklanders who are leaving on their summer vacations are the following: A. C. Henry, H. C. Bland, Jr., Miss Elsie Pheby, Mrs. L. P. Berger and daughter, Miss Marie Berger; Colonel George H. Maynard and Miss Lena Carroll.

George A. Warden of this city and Hervey Darnell of Alameda have returned from a journey of no little danger, the exploration of the headwaters of the Eel river and a perilous voyage down the river in a canoe, built in Oakland for the purpose. It was called the Snark, and was taken to Ukiah by rail and from there hauled to the headwaters of the river.

M. W. Wood today presented to the public library a copy of "History of Alameda County." Mrs. R. E. Chick has also made a valuable donation in the shape of 150 volumes. This is the first addition of any consequence ever made to the library by gift.

The Santa Cruz Rock Company has the contract for paying with bitumen the gore at the intersection of Telegraph avenue and Broadway on their bid of $1383.20.

The Acme Bicycle Club was organized last night when the following signed the membership roll: Charles Bowman, E. S. Dowdle, S. S. Fogarty, J. J. Hanflin, L. A. Lamory, B. C. Leslie, H. A. Maxwell, G. F. Mier, C. L. Rickard, Steven Rice, T. F. Scanlon, F. W. Sharpe, H. N. Sloyer, D. C. Van Court, M. A. Whidden and B. Ferris.

Before another year goes by J. H. Strobridge is likely to astonish the natives. He has in training about the finest lot of colts California has ever produced.

Billy McCarthy of Australia and Alex Greggains of San Francisco contested in a fight to the finish across the bay last evening in which the local man was awarded the decision after McCarthy had broken his arm.

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

For Ways That Are Dark—

That the "tricks of the trade" are known to the Chinese, is the belief of a well known Eastern cigar manufacturer who was recently in San Francisco. He was entertained at the Bohemian club, and told the following story of the experience of one of his drummers in San Francisco. He wished to introduce a cheap brand of cigars to the Oriental quarter of this city, so he hit upon a plan of advertising them. He composed the lines he wished placed above a picture of the cigar in question. The lines were as follows: "Smoke these cigars. They are the best to be had, and retail at two for five." He had these words interpreted into the appropriate Chinese characters, printed on a thousand cards, and started on his travels. The cigars did not take at all with the Celestials. One day a friend who knew something of Chinese met the drummer.

"Queer card you've got about your cigars?"

"Why? Doesn't it say they are the best cigars to be had at the price?"

"Nothing like it. This is what it says: 'Don't smoke these cigars. They are no good. But the cigarettes of the Pong Company, in packages of three are excellent.'"

The Chinaman who did the translation got $10 from the drummer and possibly five times that from the Pong Company.

Separation Was Expected

No surprise was occasioned by the report that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Baldwin had separated as the intimate friends of the couple had expected it for some time. Close friends endeavored a month or so ago to adjust the difficulties existing between the young couple, but their efforts proved futile and ended in Mrs. Baldwin returning to her father's home in Sausalito with her pretty little child. Her father, George Reed, also attempted to restore harmony between the pair, but his efforts proved futile. Mrs. Baldwin has been considering the advisability of a divorce, and her closer friends say she will probably ask for a legal separation, although every effort is being made to repair the nearly wrecked matrimonial bark. Recently young Baldwin has been a familiar figure in the cafes, and his frequent appearance when the gaslight burned bright, gave the first intimation that domestic harmony might suffer, and this was strengthened by the fact that his wife was seldom in his company. When stories of his journeyings through the city were carried to the ears of his wife, she decided that a visit to Sausalito with her father would be a pleasant change. Since then there has been no indications that harmony has been restored. The couple were married in 1906, and their wedding was a society affair. Mrs. Baldwin was a prominent belle in the younger set, and her husband, who is a son of the late Colonel Baldwin, was also prominent. He has become well known as a customs house broker, and has been regarded as a clear-headed business man. He is planning to leave shortly for Manila where he was engaged in business. According to present plans his wife will accompany him.—The Wasp.

And the Lights All Went Out

The other night the lights went out at the St. Francis. It was quite as sudden as a train entering a tunnel, or the proposal of the leap year woman. The white and gold room, a bedazzlement of candelabra, glittering cutglass and gleaming tableware, became a void of dark, haunted by whispers. The lobby blinked and put out an arm for the woman next to it. The clerks relaxed their striking, picturesque attitudes, and the congers drew themselves together, particularly their lower limbs, and waited for something to happen. Everything came to a pause. Now there is a gentleman prominent in the Southern Club, who for years has held in enmity a certain other well-known clubman of the Olympic branch, and a girl in the first place, of course—it always is a girl—and a Southerner rarely forgets or forgives. As it happened, these two gentlemen were standing near to one another in the lobby when the lights went out, talking to mutual friends. Both had been about to say good-night; in fact, the Southerner was in a great hurry, for the lights to come on, he simply grasped his friend's hand to say good-night—that is, he thought it was his friend. But in the darkness, the four men had shifted. And in the sudden blaze of lights the Southerner saw that he had given his hand to the clubman, who was as much amazed as himself. They merely smiled and turned away from each other.—News Letter.

Engagement Is Interesting

The engagement of Christian de Guigne and Miss Marie Louise Elkins is one of the most eligible young couples of the Burlingame set, and also one of the most attractive of the younger society girls. When Senator Felton confirmed the report of the betrothal there was a distinct flutter in social circles, and I understand that scores of telegrams of congratulations have been sent to both the young people. Young de Guigne is a grandson of Mrs. A. M. Parrott of San Mateo, a nephew of Mrs. A. H. Payson and of Mrs. Robert Y. Tristram. Although he was born in France he was educated in this country, graduating from Harvard and registering as an American citizen when he became of age. He has been very popular in local society. Miss Elkins' grandfather, Senator Felton, is one of the pioneers of California, and made a large fortune in the early days. Her mother is the charming Kate Felton, and was one of the noted belles of a generation ago. She was left a widow about ten years ago, but about a year ago married Mr. Neilson, a son of the famous traction magnate and a noted Eastern lawyer. She forfeited an immense fortune by her marriage. Young Miss Elkins has been living with her mother in Philadelphia, but recently went to Paris. Young de Guigne is now in the French capital with his fiancée. No plans for the wedding have as yet been announced.—The Wasp.

A Fine Distinction

It was a solemn session of our Supreme Court and a learned attorney was making a convoluted argument on the Eight Hour Law for Women. He was distinguishing laboriously between women who work in hotels and women who work in boarding houses. The distinction was obscure. It failed to penetrate the intelligence of the learned justices. One of them asked for more light. "What," he asked, "what is the difference between a boarding house and a hotel?" The learned attorney paused. The learned attorney appeared just a bit confused. The learned attorney at length conceived this brilliant specimen of physical distinction: "In a hotel," he said, "the linen gets dirty when it does in a boarding house." And the learned justice who was Mr. Justice Henshaw smiled the grim suspicion of a mocking smile at the learned attorney who was Mr. Willie Denman.—Town Talk.

'Jim' Keene's Remarkable Career

The news that James R. Keene is dying causes a feeling of sorrow to many of the older generation of San Francisco, for Keene was long identified with the men of a past period. It also marks the closing of one of the most remarkable careers of modern times. Keene has won and lost fortune after fortune. He is now supposed to be worth $30,000,000. Keene was born in England in 1838, his father being a London merchant. Young Keene came to California in 1862, at the age of 24. Later he became a prospector, a freighter, farmer, and for two years edited a small paper. Shortly after the discovery of the Comstock lode he went to Nevada. He picked up a lot of mining stock at a big profit, and then returned to San Francisco, where he plunged in speculation in mining securities. In a year he had made a fortune of several hundred thousand dollars. He married, at that period of his career, Miss Sarah Daingerfield, a cousin of Colonel Leroy Daingerfield of Virginia. She had gone to California to reside with her brother, William R. Daingerfield, then a Superior Judge of San Francisco. The crash came after the Comstock boom. The Keene broke. But he got a fresh start "on the curb." He made friends with United States Senator Felton, who put him in the San Francisco Stock Exchange. By 1877 he had made $6,000,000 in wheat and mining stocks, and he had helped save and reorganize the Bank of California; but he was broken physically by the strain. Keene in 1877 set out on an extended trip to Europe, but let the temptation to speculate get the better of him when he got as far as New York. He remained there two years and increased his fortune to $9,000,000. Then he returned to California. On his return he got into a permanent New York. Mr. Keene tried to "take a Gould's scalp," but he lost his skin. Could beat him in an attempted wheat corner, and, after various ups and downs, Keene, in April, 1884, threw up his hands and failed for $3,000,000. Since then Mr. Keene, in the opinion of Wall street, has got back all he ever lost, and more, so that he is now supposed to be worth anywhere from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000. In the last ten years Keene has come to be looked on as a man of mystery, and his own taciturnity and his inscrutable manner have baffled even the street from getting a close estimate of his wealth or the nature or extent of his operations. He has been reported at one time as losing millions and at other times of winning millions. It was said a number of years ago that he had made an agreement with his wife, after one of his reverses, whereby he has since given her one-half of all his speculative winnings, so that her fortune is now estimated well up into the millions. Mr. Keene has made enormous wagers on the turf through his keen judgment as a breeder and buyer of race horses. He has owned some famous racers, among them Domino, Commando, Colin and Spendthrift. He has a fine stud in Kentucky and has sent many horses abroad. There are two of the Keene children—Foxhall Parker Keene and Jessie Howard Keene. The latter is the divorced wife of Talbot J. Taylor.—The Wasp.

Jack London's Diamonds

Jack London has added another adventure to his already remarkable career, likewise increased his bank account, and learned something that Isaac Walton would have given his eye-teeth to know. It all happened in the heart of the Olympic mountains, at Lake Crescent, where the author now is, and it happened the other day. In Lake Crescent, around the renowned Beardslee trout, found nowhere else in the world. To test the tug-of-war on the end of a casting line and to catch its spotted sides sent London there to spend five weeks. He went there with the avowed intention of remaining until he had captured a Beardslee trout. For four days he went out in the morning and rowed back at night, ate his meals and retired to his tent. Not a word was said. Guests saw him bring in strings of fine speckled and Dolly Varden trout, but not a Beardslee. Among the guests is Alexander Panagiotis, who learned of London's great desire and planned to play a little trick on the author. One morning he approached London at breakfast and offered to bet $15 against all the money London had in his pockets that he would not catch a Beardslee trout during his stay. London found $8, and they left the money with the in-keeper. In the flat-bottomed boat, assigned to each guest London roved across the lake, fully five miles, and fished all day. His boat was fairly swamped with various species of trout and some nice, land-locked salmon. But in spite of forty-seven changes of flies, and three hours of trolling, not a Beardslee. Then, even made a strike at the hooks and spoons. Suddenly the author was seized with inspiration. Selecting a wondrously made trolling spoon, London took his diamond stud, which was the envy of Jack Johnson, and tied it to the gut leader, an inch above the cluster of hooks, and then bent to the task of trolling the placid waters of the cove. Hardly had the hook touched the water when a strike and a tug of the line assured the author that a fish was hooked. About dinner time seven changes of flies, and three hours of trolling, not a Beardslee. Then, even made a strike at the hooks and spoons. Suddenly the author was seized with inspiration. About dinner time seven changes of flies, and three hours of trolling, not a Beardslee. Then, even made a strike at the hooks and spoons. Suddenly the author was seized with inspiration. Selecting a wondrously made trolling spoon, London took his diamond stud, which was the envy of Jack Johnson, and tied it to the gut leader, an inch above the cluster of hooks, and then bent to the task of trolling the placid waters of the cove. # THE MEDDLER

MISS ANNA MILLER WOOD of Boston now visiting in Berkeley, where she is being feted.

MRS. WILLIAM F. CHIPMAN, who is on her wedding trip in Honolulu.

It is vacation time; but it is perfectly true that no one now-a-days is idle. To be idle means that one is ill. If one is really resting, one is in the midst of a different activity, that is all. One is much busier than usual, only one is doing the thing he likes. Of course, it is a matter of wonder to one's friends just why he should want to do that special thing. We, ourselves, cannot see why a man should want to get up from his downy couch in "the wee sma' hours" and shiver with the cold in the heart of the long-some hills, while he waits for some poor, unfortunate deer; it is one of the mysteries of the summer time.

Another man will whip a stream all day, with incredible hardships, all for a few forlorn little fish, that he gazes upon with a pride almost supernatural. Another man will court accidents in motor cars on almost impassible roads, not for any destination at the end, but simply to "be going." For it is perfectly true that a man, suddenly set loose in America, wants to run with all his dead might.

It is the end and aim of life to go up in an airship; and a poor score at golf brings a joy unspeakable. The things we have to do are verily always the things we do not want to do. When that burden is lifted, in vacation time, it is strange to note the things that take its place.

One prominent woman in society said her great ambition, a secret ambition, was to be a drum major, at the head of a procession, twirling that big cane with the knobs on either end.

A most successful lawyer in town has always cherished the secret idea that he would have made a most magnificent leader of "a big brass band." And one of our most successful businessmen once stood forlornly in front of a Christmas candy shop regretting that no one had ever given him a candy cane. Of course, he could have bought one—have bought out the candy shop—but that was not the point. No one had ever given him a candy cane!

Wells Mitchell is one of the finest nerve specialists in the country, but he is best known as the author of historical novels, written in what he fancied were leisure hours—"leisure," but they contained for him what he wanted to do.

Perhaps the summer has its charm, because then we can really live in "the land of make-believe"; because then it is play time. A man who has not evolved any play time is distinctly to be pitied. He may own houses and lots galore, but if he does not own his own special corner in the land of make-believe he is poor, indeed.

That is why the late E. H. Harriman started that magnificent farm at Arden. When he was tired of showing the world how railroads ought to be run he played he was a farmer. And thousands of Americans all over the land are playing at farming, and that is why our country homes are showing such unusual developments. They are part of the land of make-believe. In the city their owners are strictly up-to-date men of business, driving a hard bargain, down to work in vigorous fashion, perfectly groomed as befits the successful business man of modern times.

But he has learned to shut in many of his cares when he closes his office and hies himself off to his happy land of make-believe. What a different man he is, to be sure! You would hardly know him in his old clothes, as he takes his way over the hill-side, with his gun over his shoulder. Woe to the blue-jay that flies across his path, and his joy in a few squirrels laid low by his mighty gun passeth understanding. And no painting by the greatest of masterpieces that could bring him half the happiness that the old stuffed owl represents—for the latter is the result of his personal prowess.

"Oh, just an owl that I shot," he says to friends. Perhaps there are a few chickens the latter are called upon to admire—and may be there is a cow or two, and some pheasants; be sure you will be introduced to them all. For, of course, they are not ordinary animals. How could they be, in the Land of Make-Believe?

And you have a welcome in this land that you never find anywhere else. The bars are down. You just frankly share things. In the great outside world, a host asks you for many reasons. In his own country world, in his world of playtime, he asks you because he wants you—because of something companionable in you—and all of a sudden the world of make-believe is your real world. Gone is all the pretense—gone are all the conventions of modern civilization demands, a real lovable self, noble, generous, stands revealed, something wonderfully true, in the very heart of the fascinating "Land of Make-Believe."

COUNTRY LIFE AND THOSE WHO LIVE IT.

It is quite remarkable the way women have risen to the emergencies of this desire for country life exhibited by the men of their families. In town, men are impatient on the exigencies of social life. They loathe the dinners, they detest the evening clothes, and all entertainment of others is an effort after a hard day's work. But these same men will cheerfully insist on guests in the country home, nearly all the time. "This is the forest primeval," he says, and passes it cheerfully up to his guests. In it they may roam at will—in it they may shoot such wild things as come their way.

The strength of the everlasting hills—it is his for the asking and to bestow upon his guests, and perhaps there is some little babbling, sparkling brook, running on its swift way through the meadows. Day and night it sings its sweet song, and how could a guest be lonely? It is just as Whittier said of his own little brook, in the family farm:

"The music of whose liquid lip
Had been to me companionship."

And so the man who resents much company at home, becomes the most cheerful of hosts in the country place, and the women of the family have learned to adapt themselves to conditions in the most ideal fashion. One may sleep out of doors. Long tramps in the country air give the best of appetites, and simple fare is not to be despised. The California matron has learned how to manage the domestic problem in the country; she no longer tries to make it an imitation of her city home. She simply shares it with her guests, in an abounding good nature that is truly charming. Given a few days in the country with friends and one learns to know them better than through whole years of city friendship. It is true now and then the knowledge reveals the selfish nature, and one has lost respect for a friend; but for one friend lost there are the many gained, and country summer life is far-reaching in its results. And so it is, that one learns to admire greatly the matron who makes her own and her husband's guests cordially welcome, and who learns to share with them many of the joys of her summer country home. It is quite amazing, the way we share now-a-days. A family will be obliged to return home because of the opening of school. But not for that, is the summer home closed. It is simply passed on to other people who can use it, and who in their turn can spend restful days in the quiet heart of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Churchill Taylor are established at Brookdale, and their little sons who were so ill this summer have quite recovered their health. They are entertaining their friends in a very hospitable way, and among their June guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stolp.

Recent week-end guests were also Mr. and Mrs. John F. Connors. The Taylors expect to spend some weeks at Brookdale.

The Highs are also at Brookdale, and one hears much praise of William High for his heroism in rescuing a drowning girl in the San Lorenzo river. It does not seem to be a very dangerous river, but it has been the scene of many accidents.

Next week many of the houses in the Santa Cruz mountains are to be closed, the various families feeling obliged to return for the opening of school in the early August days. It is with reluctance they all come home, even after a two months' stay away, for August is an ideal month in the mountains.

OAKLAND BRIDES HAVE HOMES ELSEWHERE.

Oakland has a very surprising record to show in the matter of young brides whose homes have been made in other cities. It goes to show that Oakland has lost more than its due proportion of beautiful young matrons, and it also goes to show that our young girls have what Barrie calls "charm"—that they are endowed with more than the usual share of fascination.

Since Oakland's pioneer days, there is a long story of brides who have gone away to establish homes elsewhere. These stories are part of the histories of many of our local families. For in the annals of our local smart set it is written that:

Elizabeth Folger is Mrs. LeGrande Tibbets of New York; Miss Charlotte Miller is Mrs. John B. Mhoon of Pasadena; Harriet Kittredge is Mrs. Frank Baldwin of the Island of Kauai; Ruth Dyer is Mrs. George Augur of Honolulu; Minnie Thornburgh is Mrs. Cropper of London; Minnie Mathews is Mrs. Cryan of Ireland; Mary Bates is Mrs. George Martin of Berlin; Martha Alexander is Mrs. John Waterhouse of Honolulu; Florence

White is Mrs. M. L. Faltoute of New Jersey; Alice Wellman is Mrs. Beardsley of Australia; Sara Drum is Mrs. Gill of Redlands; Lucy Moffitt is Mrs. John Hampton Lynch of New York; Ahnie Clay is Mrs. Harden Crawford of New York; Hope Woodbury is Mrs. Edward Gibson of Seattle; Arline Johnson is Mrs. Charles Towne of Los Angeles; Lillian Everson is Mrs. Arthur Goodhue, of Long Beach; Gertrude Allen is Mrs. Ritchie Livingston Dunn of San Francisco; Eleanor Phelps is Mrs. Glasford of Mare Island; Florence Hush is Mrs. Charles Bentley of San Francisco; Bessie Coghill is Mrs. John Trainor of Los Angeles; Ethel Meek is Mrs. Montgomery of San Francisco; Mary MacDermot is Mrs. Crawford of Kent, England; Ruth Rising is Madame Menicanti of Rome; Carrie Colt is Mrs. Avery of New Jersey; Jessie Colt is Mrs. Ransome of New York; Anne Apperson is Mrs. Joseph Marshall Flint of New Haven; Kittie Kutz is Mrs. Crist of Washington, D. C.; Mary Huff is Mrs. Bush Fennell of San Francisco; May Young is Mrs. McNab of Los Angeles; Pansy Perkins is Mrs. Cleve Baker of Tonopah; Cassie Drum is Mrs. William Geer Hitchcock of New York and Burlingame; Edith Gaskill is Mrs. McCabe of San Ramon; Hattie English is Mrs. Arthur Mallins of British Columbia; Genevieve English is Mrs. Irwin of New Island; Bessie Adams is Mrs. John Jackson of Menlo Park; Beulah Brigham is Mrs. Johnson of Los Angeles; Clara Ralston is Mrs. William Bullitt of Louisville, Kentucky; Ada Layman is Mrs. Dodge of Portland; Bessie Gage is Mrs. William H. Richardson of Austin, Texas; Clara Engdahl is Mrs. Firmin Hinds of Santa Rosa; Sadie Sinclair is Mrs. Henry Glide of Sacramento; Delight Woodbury is Mrs. Edward de Laveaga of San Francisco; Ruth Woodbury is Mrs. Harrie Taylor of New York; Esther Glenn is Mrs. Guerin of Chicago; Jean Hush is Mrs. Frank Wells of Burlington; Enid Yale is Mrs. Gracey of Shanghai, China; Susie Snook is Mrs. John B. Gulle of New York; Grace Holt is Mrs. Ralph Lohman of Pleasant Valley; Margaret Sinclair is Mrs. Thornton, Glide of Davis; Alice Moffitt is Mrs. George Doubleday of New York; Florence Edoff is Mrs. George Porter Baldwin of New York and Pittsburg; Bessie Dargle is Mrs. Andrew McCarthy of San Francisco; Gertrude Russell is Mrs. Eugene Douglas of Manila; Ethel Whitney is Mrs. Charles Allen of New York; Louise Hall is Mrs. Harry Hayes of Visalia; Jessie Glascock is Mrs. Alexander Baldwin of San Francisco; Gertrude Elliott is Mrs. Forbes Robinson of London; Hattie Kimble is Mrs. Joseph Chansior of San Francisco; Margaret Cameron is Mrs. Lewis of Chicago; Ina Griffin is Mrs. Oscar Cushing of San Francisco; Genevieve Fore is Mrs. Hewitt of Los Angeles; Leslie Greene is Mrs. Howard Huntington of Los Angeles; Agnes Duff is Mrs. Frederick Fanwick of San Francisco; Winifred Morgan is Madame de Grassi of London.

And that is rather a long list of young matrons for Oakland, to send out to establish homes in other cities.

MANY OAKLANDERS REMAIN ABROAD.

Many people we know are still abroad, and are waiting for the late autumn days before planning their homeward way. Mrs. John Russ and Dr. Raymond Russ spent the month of June in Berlin, and were at the Hotel Alexandra, in which were also many Americans. Recent letters from abroad bring news of Mrs. Charles D. Pierce, who was recently in Baden-Baden, Germany. She will go later with her sister, Mrs. Russ, to Paris.

Mrs. MacDermot and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proctor are in London, and are at the Hyde Park Hotel. They spend a great deal of time with Dr. and Mrs. Crawford (Mary MacDermot), in their beautiful English estate down in Kent.

The Charles Leonard Smiths had a very pleasant crossing on the Cunard liner Campania, and on the same steamer was the Rev. Charles R. Brown, formerly pastor of the First Congregational church. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are now in England, but they are not too busy to remember their friends, and very delightful and interesting letters are beginning to cross the seas to their most intimate friends.

MANY MOURN PASSING OF MRS. ALBERT OTIS.

It is with sincere sorrow that many friends learned early this week of the passing of Mrs. Albert Otis (Alice Dyer), and many friends gathered at the Dyer home on Jackson street for the last sad rites. The J. B. Dyers came to Oakland many years ago, when their daughters were very young and made their home in Jackson street. The young people were identified with the life of the Lakeside neighborhood, and their home was always a social center, in which was dispensed the truest hospitality.

Mrs. Otis was well known as Alice Dyer, for many years one of Oakland's sweetest singers. She had an exceedingly fine soprano voice, very strong and sweet, and for years she was the leading soloist in the choir of the First Congregational church. Captain and Mrs. Albert Otis made their home for some time in Spokane, and later they spent some years in Honolulu. When they returned to California, always they found the same cordial welcome awaiting them from very true, loyal friends.

Mrs. Otis was a woman of wide sympathies, of a sweet, kindly disposition, amiable, peaceful, serene, and very lovable. And the loss of a friend like that means a great deal to her world.

On hearing of her sister's illness, Mrs. Arthur hastened from Honolulu and she was able to be with her sister in these last days. And to her and to Miss Minnie Dyer will go out the very sincere sympathy of many old time friends, and of the new ones as well, who in their time had come to know and love dear Alice Dyer Otis.

CREEDS DEPART FOR COUNTRY PLACE.

Mr. and Mrs. Wigginton Creed and their children have gone to their country place, Los Medanos, for the summer, and they will have as their guest their pretty young sister, Miss Pussie Creed. The latter has quite recovered from the attack of scarlet fever, which proved so annoying in the early part of the summer, for Mrs. Creed and her attractive young daughter had to spend many days in quarantine.

"Los Medanos" is an exceedingly attractive place, a large ranch of many hundred acres, at the junction of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, and the Creeds spend many months there each summer.

Later in the season, Mrs. Creed and her daughter will go to Southern California.

CLAYS TO SPEND TIME IN SIERRA.

Mrs. C. C. Clay and Miss Madeline Clay left early in the week for Shasta Springs, and they are planning to spend some weeks in the Sierra.

The McNear home in Linden street, which has been closed since the passing last year of the late George W. McNear, will be opened again this summer, as Mrs. McNear is now on the ocean on her way home from Japan.

Mrs. McNear, with her daughter, Bessie McNear and Miss Elizabeth Sherman, have been away almost a year, and they arranged an itinerary of unusual interest.

They greatly enjoyed their trip to Egypt, with days spent in fascinating Cairo and up the Nile.

In Europe the McNears found many friends. John McNear lived for years abroad, and at one time Miss Elizabeth Sherman and Miss Bessie McNear spent several months in Paris, where Miss McNear studied singing. She has a very fine soprano voice, which has been specially well cultivated.

SANTA BARBARA GUESTS TO ARRIVE.

Mrs. Isaac Requa, General and Mrs. Long, and the Misses Long are expected home the latter part of next week, having spent two months at Santa Barbara. How helpful the Requas always are, and how generous. As soon as Mr. Mark Requa learned of the wreck of the Santa Rosa, he immediately placed his automobile at the service of the wrecked passengers, and brought them from the scene of the wreck to the trains going from Santa Barbara, either north or south. It is like the Requas to always think of helpful things to do and one can be sure that Mr. Mark Requa's automobile was greatly appreciated by the poor, frightened passengers.

GUEST OF RELATIVES IN EASTERN STATES.

Miss Jemima Ryle, the daughter of Mrs. Nora Ryle is spending the summer in the East, and is the guest of relatives in Paterson, New Jersey. The Kendalls have for some months made their home in San Diego, and are identified with the prominent families of Southern California. For many years their home was in Fourteenth street, and the Kendalls were one of the pioneer families of our city. Mrs. Kendall and Mrs. William Letts Oliver have been lifelong friends. Frank Kendall, Junior, married an English girl in South Africa, where he has established his home.

Mrs. Simpson, who has been chaperoning her daughter, Beatrice, and Miss Elsa Schilling has prolonged her stay abroad, and their arrival is not now expected until the middle of next month. Miss Schilling will join her parents in their new home at Redwood City. In one sense of the word it is not a new home, for it was formerly the residence of the Prestons, and the grounds represent the growth of many years.

Miss Schilling is a very generous girl, and there were always many entertainments planned for her young friends in the beautiful Schilling home by the lake. Now they will no doubt enjoy delightful days in the Redwood City home. Among Miss Schilling's most intimate friends are Mrs. William Thornton White, Mrs. Thomas Knowles, Miss Beatrice Simpson, Miss Rose Kales.

WILL SPEND SUMMER ON CHANNEL ISLAND.

Mrs. Albina Calre, with her daughters and grand-children, has gone to the Island of Santa Cruz to spend the three months of the summer. The Island of Santa Cruz is one of the Channel Islands off the coast of Santa Barbara, and the only one of the islands on the coast owned by a private family. It is an island of remarkable scenic beauty, and the family home is in the interior of the island, and is a most picturesque country place. Many guests are made welcome there each year by the Calres.

MISS ETHEL MOORE AT RANCHO BELLEFONTAINE.

Miss Ethel Moore has been spending a few days at Rancho Bellefontaine (Ranch of the Beautiful Fountain), the Moore country place near Mission San Jose. Miss Moore has had an exceedingly busy summer, for much has been expected of her in the suffrage cause. She is also one of the most valuable members of the Playground Commission on our side of the bay.

The Playground Commission is doing exceedingly good work, especially in planning the tennis courts all over the city. It is remarkable the number of families which have learned to play tennis, and so popular are the courts that people have to wait for their turn at all hours of the day.

MRS. WILLIAM KEITH HOSTESS AT DINNER.

Mrs. William Keith of Berkeley was hostess at one of the notable dinners of the week, entertaining guests in her Berkeley home. For many years now Mrs. Keith has been an acknowledged suffrage leader on this coast, fighting bravely for the cause when it took a great deal of real courage to do so. It was she who in the beginning of this present campaign quietly passed a check of a thousand dollars to the suffrage committee, that it might consistently carry on the good work.

Among Mrs. Keith's guests at her dinner this week were Mr. and Mrs. Wixson, the latter superintendent of the Colorado schools. Miss Gail Loughlin of Denver, Mrs. Hester Harland and Dr. Sperry. The latter is the daughter of Mrs. Austin Sperry, who has done so much for the suffrage cause in our State.

Miss Gail Loughlin is a very successful writer and one of her recent books, which aroused great interest, is entitled "Just Folks."

PLAN AUTO JOURNEY FOR NEAR FUTURE.

the season at Santa Barbara, where they will be guests of Mrs. Driscoll's parents, Admiral and Mrs. Bacon.

OPEN SUMMER HOME AT LAKE TAHOE.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spence Black have gone to Lake Tahoe, and have opened their summer cottage there. It is very cold at Tahoe in the early summer, and lovers of the mountains defer their trips till the late season. The Blacks have a very picturesque cottage on the shores of Tahoe, and Mrs. Black's relatives spend a good deal of time there each summer.

The Herbert Moffitts are occupying the Moffitt cottage at Tahoe, and the Frederick Kohls are also to be at Tahoe for the month of August.

HOSPITABLE HOME IS THAT OF HOLLANDS.

One of the most hospitable homes in Brookdale this summer has been that of the Arthur Hollands at Brookdale. Their home, "Dir Allah," is one of the most picturesque in the Santa Cruz mountains, as Mrs. Holland was one of the first to discuss the charms of Brookdale. She planned an ideal country place, overlooking a charming stream, the house surrounded by a wide veranda, the pillars of which are growing redwood trees.

Mrs. Holland's charming young daughter, Miss Lou Holland, assists her mother in entertaining the many guests of the summer. She is one of the most attractive of the younger girls, with very sweet, well-bred ways, and she is very much loved by her friends.

Taylor and Miss Mildred Bryne are members of a party who have a very picturesque camp at Brookdale.

Goodfellows have a charming summer home on Ocean View road, Santa Cruz, and the various members of the family spend a great deal of time with them each summer.

MISS CECIL HARROLD PLANS SUMMER TEA.

Among the most interesting of the midsummer teas is that planned by Miss Cecil Harrold, who will entertain at her home in Fruitvale. Miss Harrold is making Miss Grace Stalder her guest of honor. Miss Stalder's engagement to A. K. P. Harmon, Jr., was an announcement of the summer. Mr. Harmon is a grandson of A. K. Harmon, whose home on Webster street was for many years one of the most prominent in the city.

The Harmons are among the best known residents of Fruitvale, and indeed that residence section has remained the same for many years. It has included in its prominent families the Clays, the Bains, the Albrights, the Sanborns, the Williams, the Hushes, the Harrolds, the Brays, the Derbys, the Harmons, Mrs. Wetherbee, the Springs, the Flavas. The young people of the families have grown up together, and social affairs among them are apt to be of unusual interest. Mrs. Harry Leach (Bertha Stalder) will also entertain for her sister in the near future.

THE MEDDLER.

AUTOMOBILE TRAGEDY REVEALS HER ROMANCE

Death Lifts Veil From Mystery of Woman's Career

Mrs. Harriman Fairly Beseiged Daily by Begging Letters

CHICAGO, July 22.—Mrs. Kate Porter, 50 years old, a domestic employed by W. H. Hobbs, a commission merchant, was killed by being run over by an automobile driven by Charles Chapman, a contractor, at the intersection of two North Side streets.

Her identification by her employer revealed a life of romance and sacrifice. According to the story told by Mr. Hobbs, the woman years ago married Edwin C. Edgar, a wealthy St. Louis steel man, from whom she separated after a son had been born. The courts gave the father the custody of the child, and the woman gave up her friends and went alone into the world to earn a living.

She came to Chicago a few years ago to obtain employment. She received several letters from her son, who is now 20 years old, and pride prevented her from seeing him. She always feared she would meet some of her former social friends, and were a heavy veil to avoid recognition.

Elopement Startles

OROVILLE, July 22.—Miss Marnell Dunn, daughter of Chief Deputy Assessor and Mrs. E. H. Dunn, and Walter Farley, a motion picture operator employed in the Gardella theater, slipped away from this city and were married Thursday afternoon in Marysville. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Nichols in the presence of E. T. Elvers and N. O. Turner, both theatrical managers.

News of the marriage was revealed in a telephone conversation held by Mrs. Farley with her mother shortly after the ceremony had been performed and came as a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Dunn, who, it seems, had used every means to prevent the marriage.

The bride and groom returned to this city late in the day and have taken apartments. The groom is back at his post in the theater. The bride is a striking brunette, aged 21 years, and was queen of the recent water carnival. Farley came here from Eureka.

Beggars Active

NEW YORK, July 22.—During the past year Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow and sole heir to the millions left her by the great financier, has received more than 5000 begging letters. The aggregate amount of money asked for reaches the gigantic total of $10,000,000. The sum requested ranged from as small as $10 to amounts sufficient to found a college or buy a cattle ranch.

So interested Mrs. Harriman became in this enormous correspondence that she left instructions to have all begging letters turned over to her personally, so that she might get at the "psychology" of it all. Her idea was to find out the percentage of really worthy requests.

Her task has become so enormous, however, that Mrs. Harriman has been obliged to turn the letters over to the bureau for municipal research, asking it to aid her in the study of the problem.

Aviateuse Killed

PARIS, July 22.—Denise Moore, who is described as an American sportswoman, resident in Algiers, was killed yesterday afternoon at the aviation school of Henry Farman at Mourmelon. She fell a distance of 120 feet. Mrs. Moore was trying for a pilot's license. She had made two successful flights and was on her third. She had been a pupil of Farman for three weeks.

Net her Want Her

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—After a bitter estrangement of five years, two men effected a rather startling reconciliation yesterday in a downtown buffet. They were Dr. Claude Romaine, a well-known local dentist, and Mr. E. Brien, a well-known real estate broker. They met by chance, their glances catching each other's faces in a large mirror. Each set his jaws, but flushed scarlet. With a simultaneous movement, both set down their glasses and started for the swinging doors. They collided. The barkeeper saw blood on the moon and sent for an officer.

Romaine and O'Brien stepped apart and glared at each other for a few minutes. Then O'Brien thrust out his hand. "Shake, Romaine," he said, "I am mighty sorry I did it, and I wish you would take her off my hands."

Romaine grinned and accepted the hand and the apology, but he didn't want the woman. They talked over the situation two hours and discussed it freely with friends.

The trouble started in San Francisco a dozen years ago, when Romaine was a successful dentist. It developed that after O'Brien removed her, she began to correspond with Romaine. O'Brien came down looking for an explanation.

Cameys to Visit

NEWPORT, R. I., July 22.—Although the report of the engagement of Lord Camoys and Miss Mildred Sherman has been denied, the two aristocrats are expected to visit Newport this summer. It is also said that Miss Sherman has confided to a friend that Lord Camoys is coming to Newport this summer. This would seem to lend color to the report that an engagement does exist, despite denials, official and otherwise.

COL. SYDNEY TAYLOR PLACED IN RETIREMENT

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Colonel Sydney W. Taylor, Second field artillery, stationed in the department of Columbia, has been placed on the retired list on his own application, after forty-four years' service.

MRS. MARY HARRIMAN, who is recipient of many begging letters.

WHIPPING HELPS SOME WOMEN

WILMINGTON, Del.—"It is hard for a man to keep his hands off a woman like this. A whipping now and then, while illegal, does a woman such as this one good."

This decision was made by Judge Cochran in the municipal court today, in virtually dismissing John Green, on trial for wife beating. The case was referred to the Humane Society for investigation, the couple having several children.

While the wife was testifying the judge interrupted her by asking if the whole trouble was not caused by her affection for another man. She made a denial.

"Did a boarder cause you and your husband to separate?" Judge Cochran continued.

"No, it was because he beat me," she said between sobs. "He had beaten me before that boarder came to our house."

The husband himself testified his wife was too friendly with the boarder. Then the judge delivered his edict. Wife beating is a whipping past offense in Delaware.

BROWN EYES HIS UNDOING

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Brown eyes have led to more than one man's undoing, especially when they belong to a piquant, little black-haired maiden, just newly graduated from a convent. They were too much for Ed Haley, a wealthy local grocer, 51 years of age, and he married the charming little 18-year-old Loretta Falry.

At the present time the two are enjoying the pleasant breezes of the Northern Lakes, the gorgeous sunsets and all the delights of the leading summer resorts. But, alas, the happy husband will have a rude awakening when he returns home, and finds that Mrs. Sarah J. Juchema, a widow, 55 years of age, who runs a restaurant at 116 South Hudson street, has sued him for $15,000 damages for breach of promise to marry her.

The suit was filed in the Superior Court July 6. On July 14, Deputy Sheriff Elmer E. Shelton made the following remark: "Cannot find within defendant, Ed Haley, in this county."

The reason was evident. Haley and his girl wife are still on their honeymoon.

NURSE AND BABY BURN TO DEATH

SUFFERN, N. Y.—Two lives, that of a baby and its nurse, were lost early in a fire of mysterious origin in the nursery in the summer home, five miles from here, of Henry F. McKenney, a wealthy dry goods jobber of New York. The victims were Miss Gertrude Stehr and Fredericka Lage, eight months old, granddaughter of Mr. McKenney and daughter of Frederick Lage, a wealthy merchant of Rio Janeiro and New York. The blaze was discovered at 5 a. m. when Mr. McKenney, who was staying at his country place over the Fourth, heard screams in the nursery where Miss Stehr and the baby was sleeping. Flames leaped out through the door when it was opened. The fire was quickly put out with a hand extinguisher, and then the bodies of the nurse and the infant was found burned to a crisp.

Mr. McKenney's idea is that the fire was started when the nurse attempted to heat milk for the baby. Besides destroying the two lives the blaze did little damage.

MRS. FLYNN FACES THREE YEARS IN PRISON FOR FORGERY

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—Mrs. Lillian Paxton Flynn, convicted on a charge of forging the name of Jennie B. Boone to a deed for realty to the amount of $10,000 from the German-American Savings Bank, was sentenced to serve three years at San Quentin by Judge Frank R. Willis of the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Flynn's case, which has attracted wide attention, has been before the court three months. For many weeks after her arrest, she refused to talk about herself, but finally broke down and told her true name, giving as her reason for doing so her desire to learn what had become of her three little children from whom she had been separated from the time of her arrest. She showed little anxiety about her husband, known as Stevens, who escaped after being arrested by the Denver police.

She had asked the court to grant her probation, and when it was denied she wept bitterly, her tears continuing to flow even until after her return to the county jail.

LIGHTNING RESTORES WOMAN'S HEARING

WINSTED, Conn.—Although she suffered great pain as the result of being struck by lightning during a recent storm, Mrs. Jane Decker, aged 66, of Canaan, is glad she was hit by the bolt, because the accident restored her hearing. She had been deaf since childhood.

The bolt of lightning entered the roof near the chimney, shattered a number of rafters, tore through two floors, wrecking windows and frames and stunning both Mrs. Frederick Stevens and her mother, Mrs. Decker, who were standing close together. Mrs. Decker was rendered unconscious and was lame and sore for a number of days. Her hearing is unusually acute as the result of the shock and she is now able to carry on a conversation in an ordinary tone of voice.

300 CHILDREN TO TAKE PART IN FESTIVAL

Three hundred children will appear in costume in the mid-summer play festival to be given in Berkeley under the direction of Miss Mare Hofer of the summer school play festival. The demonstration will be given as a closing exhibition of the work accomplished by the boys and girls during the summer school session. The date has not as yet been set.

"The seasonal life of California seems to fitly express itself in the mythical native stories and suggested activities of fairies, gnomes, and elves," said Miss Hofer in a recent interview. "The children will help to bring about the harvest of the summer."

The following program contains the literature, which is presented to the children in the form of stories and illustrated in pantomime, dances and a pageant march. The characters about the campus after which they assemble and the play begins.

The narrative is as follows: Father Sun calls together his attendants, the clouds, rains and sunbeams, to prepare the earth for fruitfulness. This is illustrated by pantomime and dances.

Mother Earth, accompanied by gnomes, seed children, grasses and flowers, tell the story of spring.

Pomona, goddess of the garden fruits, green vintage dance; gnomes give nut dance.

Ceres, the Harvest mother, and her grain maidens, carrying sheaves, dances around wheat. Follows the dance of the Indian corn.

Indians' ghost dance and harvest dance. The children in costume will take part in the pageant. The afternoon will close with a play festival in which all the activities of the summer will be reviewed, showing the successful work of the experimental playground.

Reconciliation Predicted In Vanderbilt Family

MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT JR., who may rejoin husband.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 22.—Coincidentally with the arrival of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, from Europe, W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., came to Newport yesterday, and it is reported that a reconciliation between him and Mrs. Vanderbilt, formerly Virginia Fair of San Francisco, will shortly be effected. The arbitrator is understood to be Mrs. Joseph Harriman, famous as the peace-maker in society.

The separation of the Vanderbilts, due, it was alleged, to the husband's infatuation of Lina Cavalleri, occurred early in 1909.

For weeks society was busy with rumors of divorce and possible reconciliation, but Vanderbilt went abroad, and Mrs. Vanderbilt, after visiting her old home in San Francisco, went the even-tenor of her own way.

Since that time numerous attempts have been made at reconciliation by friends of both sides, but until recently there was no indication that they would ever be reunited.

WOMAN TRIES IN VAIN TO REFORM HUSBAND'S AFFINITY

Takes in Girl With Whom Spouse Eloped, But It Ends in Courts.

KANSAS CITY, July 22.—For two weeks Mrs. Charles L. Goddard, wife of a jeweler in a Pacific coast city, said to be San Francisco, and herself a member of a prominent family in that city, has lived at 1215 East Thirteenth street in Kansas City with her husband and the latter's affinity, Miss Anna Doyle, a Pacific coast girl.

Mrs. Goddard came upon her eloping husband in Denver three weeks ago by accident. At her husband's pleading, she consented that the trio should come to Kansas City, where she undertook the task of reforming the affinity.

At the meeting with his wife Goddard made a frank statement of the situation. He said he was glad to be reunited with his wife and little son, who was and still is with Mrs. Goddard. But he pointed out that the girl he had brought from the West must be considered, that she was sick, and it deserted would be apt to end her life. The charitable thing to do, urged Goddard, would be to keep the girl with them until matters had adjusted themselves.

DOMESTIC TANGLE GROWS.

Yesterday, in the South Municipal Court, Mrs. Goddard admitted to Judge Richardson that kind deeds are not an affinity cure.

When the wife found that Miss Doyle was not repelling the husband's attentions, and that the domestic tangle was becoming more snarled than ever, she appealed to the office of the Board of Public Welfare for advice. The police were communicated with, and as a result of an investigation by Detectives Adams and Smith, Goddard and Miss Doyle were taken to the police station.

No less than his wife, Goddard is of prepossessing appearance and of apparent refinement. He comes of a good family, has a brother at the head of the police of one of the largest cities on the coast and is named after an uncle who ranged close to Edison, in prominence as a New York electrical experimenter.

Goddard's remarkable magnetism, the wife said today, drew woman to him, and the resulting entanglements brought distress to his home. Miss Doyle was a young woman of 27, a department store clerk, who became infatuated with Goddard.

"I left my home with this girl," said Goddard quite frankly in police court. "My wife knew I was going away for a time. The truth is, I did a heroic and kind thing. The girl was in trouble. I went that disgrace might be avoided. In such matters, even when a home is involved, there is always the other woman to consider. I thought the difficulty would adjust itself."

"Many say I do not need Goddard's support," said his wife, "but I can earn what is necessary to take me and my little son back home."

"I was visiting in Denver when I expected to come across my husband. I took the girl into our reunited home out of Christian charity to reform her. I know who her people are. I know that she is not a bad woman. My husband had confessed that he had sought this girl in her innocence and had won her love. As a Christian woman trying to see light in the terrible darkness I was in, I considered what might happen to the young woman sent off into the world suddenly. I agreed that she was to stay with us until a way could be found to put her right in the world."

BLAMES THE GIRL.

"She did not do her part; she did not reply to my husband's attentions when they were renewed. She had been introduced by my husband to his sister-in-law. But the landlady became suspicious. I saw that conditions were fast growing worse and I appealed to the city police bureau for advice."

Miss Doyle has spent much of her time in tears since her arrest. She would say nothing against the wife and had only praise for the husband.

"I cannot say that it was wise for me to go away, you must know," the girl said. "How could I say aught against Mr. Goddard? He sacrificed home, position, everything to stand by me."

Judge Richardson discharged the husband $200. The affinity was discharged.

OAKLAND'S BOYS AND GIRLS

LONG TRIP IS TAKEN BY 80 BOY SCOUTS

One of the longest trips of the mid-summer season was enjoyed by eighty boy scouts and playground youngsters, who were escorted to Redwood canyon yesterday by Prof. Ligda, Mr. Weaver, Mr. Crawford and L. N. Brasfield. For many miles the boys tramped over the hills without tiring. They were complimented by the leaders of the band for their sure-footedness and perseverance in walking and climbing over rugged trails. Their skill as professional walkers was tested.

No date for a second pilgrimage has been announced by the playground directors or the scout-masters. A number will be enjoyed before the opening of school next Monday.

GERTRUDE SHORT in costume of Salvation Army lass.

BERKELEY, July 22.—Berkeley lays claim to another child stage performer in 9-year-old Gertrude Short, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Short, 1842 Channel way, who has just returned from New York with her parents, who have been members of prominent Eastern companies.

The girl played with Mrs. Short in "A Man's World," with Mary Manning recently, while the husband and father has played in Mrs. Fisk's "Salvation Nell" with her son Mark, a boy of 11 years. Gertrude Short, who made her stage debut with Nance O'Neill, is to be a member of the cast of "Zaza" at Ye Liberty theater at an early date.

Some Secrets of London's Beauty Parlor

LONDON.—"I am glad to die, since I can no longer be beautiful," exclaimed Maria, Countess of Coventry, the lover of the two famous Gunning sisters, whose almost unearthly beauty was the theme of every tongue in London a century and a half ago, as she lay in her darkened room behind curtains closely drawn so that no eye could look on her faded charms.

If my Lady Coventry had lived in our time she would not so lightly have parted with life, since she could have recovered most of her vanished loveliness for a few hundred a year. The society woman of today can afford to smile at poor Maria Gunning; for she knows (none better) that beauty is only a question of dollars and it may be, a little pain. But then, you know, as the French say, "One must suffer in order to be beautiful."

NEW FACES FOR OLD.

What is more, beauty can be bought where it does not exist. There is no disfigurement, no physical flaw which the specialist will not undertake, for a substantial fee, to transfigure into an adornment. Is any lady afflicted by a mole, on her right cheek, a downy upper lip, eyebrows that bridge the nose, a port-wine stain, shapeless arms, wrinkles, or whatnot? One and all will yield to the magic of the electric needle or some other weapon in the armory of the beauty doctor. As for the expense—what can think of money when weighed against a woman's dearest ambition?

Many a lady of fashion has not even shrunk from the painful and dangerous process of skinning the face by means of acid, at a cost seldom less than $500.

Her reward is to see her reflected face with a skin as unwrinkled, and soft, and exquisitely tinted as that of a girl of seventeen. The pain is forgotten; the money does not count. She is lovely again, a creature fair to look on, to excite envy among her friends. That is all that matters! That the process of retaining beauty is a costly one goes without saying. For the treatment of the face alone, by steaming and massaging, a society woman will gladly pay $500 a year, including the cost of cosmetics. For a bottle of lotion of moderate size she will pay two guineas, and count it cheap for a liquid which gives to her the lovely, rose-tinted complexion of seventeen.

Three guineas for a box of the finest rouge is no uncommon charge; and half a guinea is absurdly cheap for a powder puff alone. For a toilet outfit, which is soon exhausted, a well-known specialist charges ten guineas; and his replenishing will cost at least twelve guineas in as many months. Thus it is easy to see that facial beauty alone, with a guinea a week for treatment by a specialist (with its steaming, cream-smearing, massaging, electrifying, powdering, and so on), may be counted quite reasonable at $650 a year.

And this would not include, what every beauty must have nowadays, a set of electric appliances for her own use, from a finger brush to a face-roller, for which she must expect to pay at least five guineas.

Special baths may easily account for another $500 a year. Color and light baths cost half a guinea each; and electric baths, of which my lady must have one a week, are cheap at $250 for the twelve months. For her own private bath she must have sachets at two guineas a score; and as these sachets are used in the bath twice a day, and in the water whenever the face is washed, this cost, if we add lotions of various expensive kinds, and eau-de-cologne, of which a pint may well go to a single bath, may be reasonably estimated at $400 a year.

For the care of the hair, with creams and lotions, shampoos and visits—to the hairdresser, $100 a year is a moderate allowance, which will not include the cost of artificial tresses, for which it is said the demand has now become enormous. A manicure-set is cheap (to my lady) at five guineas; and to this sum we must add a guinea a month for the services of a manicurist.

No lady who values her charms will allow a year to pass without a few visits to Paris for special treatment by past masters in the art of beautifying, and for these excursions it would be absurd to allow less than $500; and a similar sum figures in many a lady's beauty bill for vibration-treatment, which is nowadays considered so invaluable for the health—beauty's twin sister.

Add to these items a modest $100 for physical exercises to develop the body and make it supple, and for fencing to give it grace of movement; another $100 for enamel for the neck and arms, and we need scarcely include the cost of my lady's maid, the highpriestess to the divinity of beauty, to reach a total of $2500 a year, which so many of our women in society would count a ludicrously small sum for the privilege of carrying youth and comeliness to the verge of old age.

DALTON'S ATTORNEYS REFUSE TO TELL PLANS

WILL ARGUE FOR NEW TRIAL

Court Circles Regard Grant of Motion as Highly Improbable.

Rumor That Prisoner Will Seek Release on Bond Pending Appeal.

When Henry P. Dalton, former county assessor, appears before Superior Judge Everett J. Brown at 10 o'clock Monday morning for sentence in connection with his conviction of the crime of asking for and receiving a bribe of $5000 from the Spring Valley Water Company, judgment will not be pronounced before the motion for a new trial, that is pending, has been argued and passed upon.

Should Judge Brown grant the motion, which is regarded in court circles as being highly improbable, there will be no sentence. On the other hand, if the motion is denied and judgment pronounced the interposition and granting of a motion in arrest of judgment is the only thing that can save Dalton from being transferred to the penitentiary, aside from an appeal, in which latter instance the convicted man would have the choice of remaining in the county jail during the pendency of his case in the higher court if he preferred this. There is some talk of Dalton trying to secure his liberty under bond pending the appeal. Whether or not he could do this would be optional with the court.

There seems to be little doubt but that counsel for Dalton will resort to a motion in arrest of judgment, if he is denied a new trial, which will seek to attack the evidence and the indictment upon which Dalton was charged by the grand jury. Whether the court would entertain such a motion in which the validity of the indictment was attacked is a question that would have to be thrashed out. Counsel for Dalton is said to think that the motion could properly include the legality of the indictment. At any rate the indictment could be attacked at this late date upon an appeal, and if the case is carried to the appellate court this will be done. Dalton's attorneys will not discuss any phase of the case or Dalton's plans for the future, but it is understood that if an appeal is taken they will make a hard fight to have the indictment declared invalid.

Dalton denied himself to all callers today, with the exception of attorney Burton J. Wyman, who visited him this forenoon. Between now and Monday, according to Wyman, counsel for Dalton will determine upon future action, but whatever program is formulated will not be given to the public in advance.

MISSION PARADE FEATURE OF SAN DIEGO CARNIVAL

Thousands See Replica of Old Structures; Fun Will Be Fast and Furious Tonight

SAN DIEGO, July 22.—With the gorgeous mission parade this morning and the carnival on the isthmus tonight, which will end with an open-air masked ball, the four-day celebration of the breaking of ground for the Panama-California Exposition comes to an end. The mission parade this morning was the best of all. Replicas of all the Franciscan missions in California, twenty-one in number, were in the parade. Each float was drawn by four horses, with guards and monks in attendance. The designer of the missions aimed to show them as they appear today and succeeded so well that his work evoked some time ago by Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, bishop of the diocese of Los Angeles and Monterey, was warmly commended.

The parade began at 10 this morning and was over with by 11:30. It was the feature parade of the celebration and was witnessed by the crowds on the streets with a mingled feeling of reverence and admiration. This afternoon there are various social functions, and at 8 o'clock this

DR. CHISHOLM GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Judge Says There Is No Doubt That Prisoner Is Guilty of Murder.

Slayer Also Thought to Have Done Away With Missing Minna Passi.

SANTA ROSA, July 22.—Dr. L. C. Chisholm was sentenced today by Superior Judge Scawell to life imprisonment in the state prison at Folsom for the murder of John D. Powell on March 9 of this year near Fort Ross. The sentence was in accordance with the verdict of the jury which found the accused man guilty of murder in the first degree, but fixed the penalty at imprisonment for life.

Chisholm showed little indication of nervousness. When asked if he had anything to say he made no reply. In passing sentence the court declared that there was no doubt that the murder was committed to secure the insurance on Powell's life, and that all evidence showed that it was deliberately planned and executed.

DID CHISHOLM KILL GIRL?

Did Chisholm do away with Minna Passi, a Finnish girl whom he promised to marry some two years ago? In view of the evidence now in his possession, and upon which they are working, District Attorney Lea and Deputy District Attorney Jack Ford believe he did, and that developments may brand him as a double slayer.

District Attorney Lea has learned through a woman friend of Minna Passi who came from Finland with her, that Chisholm met the girl in Sacramento and promised to marry her, and that they left Sacramento for San Francisco or the bay cities for that purpose.

Prior to their departure Minna told her friend that Chisholm made her swear not to tell anybody that they were to be married.

GIRL IS MISSING.

Chisholm returned to Sacramento and when inquiries were made as to Minna he made different replies. To one he said the girl was ill in a hospital in Portland, to another that she was in Reno, and since that time Minna Passi has not been seen or heard of so far as is known either in Sacramento or elsewhere, her friends say.

At the time she went away with Chisholm the young woman had $200 or more in her possession.

The district attorney firmly believes that Chisholm has been responsible for more than one mysterious disappearance.

CROWNED WIFE WITH HOT STEW

That's Just What Olga Roberts Declares Her Husband Did.

Olga Roberts has applied to the Superior Court for a divorce from Geo. Roberts on the ground of extreme cruelty, alleging among other things that Roberts burned her so severely with a stew that she had to go to a doctor. This incident occurred in March, 1910, according to Mrs. Roberts' complaint. When Roberts went home to dinner one day he found Mrs. Roberts cooking a stew. She is fond of stews and Roberts despises the very odor of them. He saw the pot boiling and smelled the aroma.

"What have we here?" Roberts demanded of his wife.

"It's a stew, dearie," replied Mrs. Roberts.

"Don't you know I can't bear stews?" Mrs. Roberts tried to explain, but before she could say half a dozen words Roberts flew into a passion, the complaint alleges. He grabbed up the pot and crowded his wife with it, she says, allowing the hot stew to drench her head and shoulders. Mrs. Roberts threw the pot off and ran screaming from the house, suffering terrible agony from the scalding grease.

Neighbors came to her aid and by prompt action saved her face from being disfigured.

Mrs. Roberts also charges that Roberts has threatened many times to shoot her and that on one occasion he drew a revolver on her.

Enters Astrabad Amid Cheers of People and Firing of Guns.

Brigands Repulsed Near Tiflis in Attempt on Treasure Train.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 22.—Mohammed Ali Mirza entered Astrabad this morning amid the cheers of the people and the firing of the guns in welcome. Astrabad, which is the capital of the province of Astrabad, had already declared for the exiled shah.

There is one practical route connecting Astrabad with Teheran, the capital of Persia, and this undoubtedly is guarded. The former ruler is expected to try to make his way through the mountains, which will be an extraordinary wild trip and will occupy at least ten days.

TEHERAN, Persia, July 22.—Yeprim of the Bakhtiaris is organizing a force, including cavalry and artillery, to oppose the advances of the ex-shah.

HOLD-UP UNSUCCESSFUL.

TIFLIS, Trans-Caucasia, July 22.—Ten brigands seized a flag station on the Akhkat mountain section of the Kara railroad. They cut the telephone wires and held up a train in which the railroad cashier, accompanied by four guards, was riding.

The guards jumped down an embankment and opened fire. In the meantime the brigands threw three bombs under the car, which exploded with great force. The robbers had entered the car when a passing detachment of mounted troops, hearing the fusillade, galloped to the scene. The robbers made their escape, but without loot.

The firing lasted an hour, the cashier and the engineer and conductor of the train being wounded.

WANTS TO GET BACK HER BABY

Woman Who Gave Away Her Child Asks Court to Help Recover It.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Mrs. Belle Hansen, who surrendered her infant to the Home Society September 12, 1910, giving it the name of Robert Stryker, began a battle for possession of the babe before Superior Judge Trabucco today. In making the surrender Mrs. Hansen signed the following statement:

"Because of my inability to properly provide and bring up this child I fully and freely and forever relinquish and abandon to the Home Society all my rights to its custody."

Subsequent to Mrs. Hansen's relinquishing possession of the infant, J. F. Heacock, the superintendent, after refusing, it is claimed, to give it to the mother on her demand, gave it over into the keeping of Mrs. B. B. Gray, of Chas. Idaho, who took it to her home. Mrs. Hansen avers that she is now well able to support her child and that as Mrs. Gray had not adopted it she had no right to move it from the State. The court continued the matter until next Wednesday.

He rode through the Platte country in Nevada in 1859 and brought help to the settlers at Cold Springs when they were threatened with annihilation.

SPRECKELS TELLS HOW SUGAR WAR WAS ENDED

Declares Persecution in Yonkers Ended When the Havemeyer Interests Secured Control

NEW YORK, July 22.—How the war between the Spreckels interests and the American Sugar Refining Company was settled and how in the deal the Havemeyers and John E. Searles made an enormous profit was told the special congressional committee investigating the trust today by Claus Augustus Spreckels. The witness is president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company of Yonkers and is a son of the late Claus Spreckels of California.

Spreckels said: "The war started soon after the formation of the trust in 1887 and continued until 1891. It was very fierce."

"How did the end come?"

"I was manager of the Spreckels refinery in Philadelphia in 1891, when John E. Searles, secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining Company, came to be in Philadelphia and made a proposition to settle the war. He said the bitter competition had been ruinous and he said that if we would sell 51 per cent of the stock of the Philadelphia plant it would close its competing plant on the Pacific coast."

GOES TO COAST.

"I wired my father about it and sugar out of the refinery. Searles went out to California to negotiate with my father. The result was that the Western Refining Company was formed, embracing the American and Spreckels interests in $5,000,000 corporation. The American took $2,225,000 in the capital stock and I delivered it to H. O. Havemeyer through E. Havemeyer and John E. Searles in New York. They told me they were the purchasers and not the American. They paid me half cash and half in short-time notes, which they later paid."

"Six months later the Havemeyers and Searles, with my father, sold the total capital stock of the western company to the American for $10,000,000 in preferred stock. "In Yonkers we have had much trouble. Mysterious persons have frequently at night drawn our liquid sugar out of the barrels into the sewers. On another occasion they put a dead rat in each barrel of a big shipment of sugar that was about to go out. I suspected certain employees of doing this and discharged them without

BEATTIE DENIES COUSIN'S STORY

Accused Husband Declares He Did Not Buy Shotgun and Shells.

Virginia Man Is Held as Suspect for Murder of His Wife.

RICHMOND, Va., July 22.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was held responsible by a verdict of the coroner's jury at 3:05 p. m. for the murder of his wife, Louise Owen Beattie, last Tuesday night on the Midlothian road, five miles south of Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., July 22.—Henry C. Beattie, Jr., who is under arrest charged with the killing of his wife, sent a message to his father today in which he declared:

"Absolutely untrue in every particular. The message referred to the signed statement of Paul Beattie, his cousin, to the effect that he had bought the shotgun with which it is alleged Beattie shot his wife on a lonely road near here."

Beattie did not seem surprised when informed of the statement made by his cousin, but said nothing to indicate that he would abandon the story he told to the sheriff—that his wife was shot to death by a strange man from the roadside, while seated beside him in his automobile. Paul Beattie went into convulsions when arrested and was unconscious for some time.

WILL HOLD HUSBAND.

The coroner's inquest was resumed today. Whatever may be the result of the inquiry the police declare they will hold the husband for trial.

Paul Beattie's signed statement, secured by the police, and on which they based their arrest, was in part as follows:

"I, Paul Beattie, state that during the week of July 10 Henry C. Beattie asked me to buy him a shotgun. I asked him what he wanted it for and he did not tell me. I went to a pawnshop in Sixth street and priced a single-barreled shotgun, the kind he had advised me to get, and on the following night, which was July 15, 1911, in company with Henry C. Beattie, in his automobile, I went to the pawnshop and bought the gun, paying $2.50, and gave the gun to Henry C. Beattie. I also state that I bought three shotgun shells from W. B. Kidd's hardware store at the corner of Harrison and Cherry streets on the afternoon of July 15, 1911, and gave them to Henry C. Beattie."

SPRECKELS TELLS HOW SUGAR WAR WAS ENDED

Declares Persecution in Yonkers Ended When the Havemeyer Interests Secured Control

NEW YORK, July 22.—How the war between the Spreckels interests and the American Sugar Refining Company was settled and how in the deal the Havemeyers and John E. Searles made an enormous profit was told the special congressional committee investigating the trust today by Claus Augustus Spreckels. The witness is president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company of Yonkers and is a son of the late Claus Spreckels of California.

Spreckels said: "The war started soon after the formation of the trust in 1887 and continued until 1891. It was very fierce."

"How did the end come?"

"I was manager of the Spreckels refinery in Philadelphia in 1891, when John E. Searles, secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining Company, came to be in Philadelphia and made a proposition to settle the war. He said the bitter competition had been ruinous and he said that if we would sell 51 per cent of the stock of the Philadelphia plant it would close its competing plant on the Pacific coast."

WOULD LIMIT OUTPUT.

"My quarrel with them started when they wanted to limit the output of the Philadelphia plant. Their idea was to reduce the amount of production and thus force up the prices. My plan was to increase the output and decrease the price."

Spreckels, after telling how H. O. Havemeyer and John E. Searles had made for months profits by selling the receipts acquired from the Spreckels interests to the trust of which they were officers, told how he was kept from purchasing Hawaiian sugar for the Yonkers Refinery.

"The planters there have an association," he explained, "which markets all their products. I have been unable to buy any of it, although I have offered to pay them more for it than any one else. They sell all output practically to the California-Hawaiian Refining Company, of which H. O. Havemeyer owned a large interest. He kept the Hawaiian sugar away from me."

"Since my opposition to the American company," Mr. Spreckels said, "our machinery was damaged by people throwing things in them. This trouble ended when Havemeyer got control."

Rival Promoters After Freddie Welsh; Locals Fail to Hit and Are Again Defeated

OAKS DROP ANOTHER GAME TO CREW FROM SACRAMENTO

Luck of Game With Pat's Men and That Explains Defeat of Locals; Seals Get in Bad Again

Sacramento won again. What has caused the locals to fall by the wayside three out of the four played with the Senatorial crew is something the fans can't explain, and the best thing they can do is to simply sit back and let hope spring eternal and so forth.

In yesterday's game Bud Pernell pitched for the Oaks while Johnny Fitzgerald did the hurling for the Capital City outfit. Both of them pitched clever but what luck there was to the same all went with the sorrell top from up country and against the fellow with the piano underpinning.

The bingles were almost evenly divided, Sacramento getting eight and the Oaks seven, but the Senators' bingles counted most and came in lucky moments.

SENATORS SCORE EARLY. Sacramento got on the map right off the reel and their runs were of the lucky kind. Nevertheless they were runs and runs with a ball game.

Shinn, first up, hit directly to Pernell at the bull pen and out of his hands just far enough away to be a single. O'Rourke then hit to right and just as Cuthaw was ready for the ball it took a nasty bound and Pat got a single. On the play Jimmy went to third.

Van Buren, next to the hill, hit to Cuthaw, who pegged nicely to the plate and from the stands it looked as if Shinn was out. But Eddie Flinn says no, so that gave Sacramento a lead.

Danzig then forced Pat at second, Van Buren getting to third. When Danzig was forced at second because Fitzgerald made a great stop and peg of Mahoney's drive, Van Buren romped.

McGargart then stole second but Bud Struck Heister out.

McGargart for the Oaks raised a wave of joy when he swung on the second ball pitched and lifted it hard against the rightfield fence. It was only a flash, for Shinn hit right into the hands of McGargart for an easy double play and Hoffman grounded out second to first.

The second inning started with a beaut to left but Cuthaw forced him at second, was out himself trying to steal second because Fitzgerald gave him a hard chance that he safely handled.

Wild! Hitting out of the way in the third inning Pearson noted to the centerfield that Flinn and the rest of the gang said hit the big bull, earning Flinn a half and the Senators' third run. That was the end of the tallying, although Oakland made one gallant try in the fourth round. Here's the score:

SEALS AGAIN LOSE. PORTLAND, July 22.—The Beavers made it four straight one-time rivals, the Seals, for the McGreedy stadium game to Harry Suter in the second and third innings and bunched a plentiful supply of runs in view of the rightfield "Big Six" Steen, who occupied the hill for the home team. The final score was again 7 to 3, and the Beavers had the luck to secure the majority of the breaks of the game.

As a matter of fact the Seals were lucky to score at all, but luck also figured largely in the tallying register against Suter. It was simply a case where

PLENTY OF TROUBLE FOR THE VALLEJO BALL TEAM. VALLEJO, July 22.—Starting the season with which was generally believed to be the best pitching talent claimed by any independent team in the State, the Pastimes of the late Central California League now find themselves without a twister of any description. Fred Green, who joined the Washington State League, was the first to leave and was soon followed by Tony Blanks, now with the Tacoma team. ### COFFROTH AND M'CAREY ARE AFTER BOXER FREDDIE WELSH

San Francisco and Los Angeles Promoters Want Him to Box in Their Towns Before Meeting Wolgast

San Francisco and Los Angeles are both after Freddie Welsh, the English boxer, as a card before he gets down to the real hard preparing stunt for the Cadillac wonder, Ad Wolgast. Jimmy Coffroth, the over-the-bay promoter, has the wires working and wants to get Welsh and "One-Round" Hogan in the ring for a twenty-round bout during the month of August.

Tom McCarey, who handles the boxing game in the southland, claims that the southrons are entitled to a peep at the Britisher before he goes up against Tom Jones' wonder and wants him to mix it with Willie Ritchie in the Vernon arena. The reason Long is willing for his card go against Matt Wells, the other Britisher, at 135 at 2 o'clock in September, which he claims is the English lightweight limit.

Next month would be a hummer for strangers in the town over the bay, for fully 50,000 Eagles are expected at the convention and all of these are of the sport loving kind.

As for the local fans, they are not particularly who it is, as far as they get the chance to see somebody exchange punches with somebody else.

COFFROTH AFTER BIG FELLOWS. Coffroth has been dickering with Fireman Jim Flynn and that hope of the white race, Carl Morris, and might do business with them. One thing that is an obstacle, though, is the fact that Morris and Flynn want a purse that would swamp a bank. In the meantime Jim is wiring them a reasonable compensation, which they are worth, and maybe more. With a feeling that he is mixing it, he is wasting no time with the little fellows.

From the angles of the game the bout between Welsh and Hogan would be far from pleasing, as one between the two lumbering heavyweights.

PACKY AND AD. STILL HARPING. Back in Milwaukee the fans, as well as those in other parts of the land are on the anxious seat over the Wolgast-McFarland match. Tom Jones, manager of the champion, is wearing out the wires scolding about the match and says it is off.

The weight agreed upon is 133 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon for a night match. Jones says that this would give Maurice E. McLaughlin of the Pacific Coast was eliminated by O. F. Touchard of New York.

Touchard excelled himself. He outplayed and outgeneraled his opponent in the greater part of the play. Before the match, McLaughlin was an overwhelming favorite, but after the sets were two to one against Touchard the latter actually had McLaughlin chasing all over the court and in the last set Touchard ran away from his opponent. The score was 2-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-2, 6-4.

There was some solace for the Pacific coast, however, when Long defeated Clontier, whose work was listless, while Long played a strenuous game. The results of the play bring together Long and Touchard, and Bishop and Larned on Monday.

HANLON TO REFEREE. SACRAMENTO, July 22.—Eddie Hanlon will referee the Monte Attili-Jimmy McGargart bout before the Pacific Coast club at the pavilion Thursday night. Resear and Attili agreed today on Hanlon and he has accepted. Both Resear and Attili are working out daily.

SMITH IS A BLOOMER. Mysterious Billy Smith of Portland was disqualified in the third round of his bout with Jim Cameron by Referee Eddie Hanlon for persistent fouling, in the face of repeated warnings. Jim Cameron, a colored heavyweight from Contra Costa county.

FOLEY PLAYS LIKE A REAL CHAMPION. PORTLAND, Ore., July 22.—Whether San Francisco has developed another tennis champion in Charles E. Foley, who yesterday reached the final round of the Oregon state tennis tournament, thus acquiring the right to challenge Nat Emerson for the state championship, was not known this afternoon, when the veteran and the youngster met in what promises to be one of the greatest matches seen in the history of the sport.

On the court, Foley showed a match with his match against Chives, a Portland man at 6-1, 1-6, 6-0. Foley, in the second set, showed a match with his match against Chives, a Portland man at 6-1, 1-6, 6-0. Foley, in the second set, showed a match with his match against Chives, a Portland man at 6-1, 1-6, 6-0.

COUNTRY PUG GETS HOOK FOR FIVE YEARS. REDDING, July 22.—Kid Parker, a prize fighter of local note, was sentenced early today to five years in Folsom prison for stealing a diamond ring from a gene bureau at Kennett May 14. Parker pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for clemency, telling the judge he would like to get out in time to go to the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915. Parker has fought a number of battles at Kennett and other places.

WANT THIS CATCHER. SACRAMENTO, July 22.—A recommendation of Captain O'Rourke of the Sacramento team Charles Graham has been made to the National League for the purchase of Catcher McDonough. If the deal is concluded McDonough will report immediately. O'Rourke speaks highly of him as a catcher. Sacramento may also try out Ryan, the young catcher who was with the Seals at the start of the season.

BIRMINGHAM IS SUSPENDED. CLEVELAND, July 22.—Outfielder Joe Birmingham of the Cleveland Americans today received notice from President Ben Johnson of his indefinite suspension. Birmingham had an argument with Umpire Perrine yesterday when called out on a ground ball which Birmingham thought foul. This is the fourth suspension of the year in the American League.

CONCORD PLAYS CROCKETT. CONCORD, July 22.—A series of three games for a purse of $100 will be played between the Concord and Crockett baseball teams, beginning tomorrow. The first game of the series will be played here, the second in Crockett, and the third upon some neutral baseball field in Contra Costa county.

BOSTON TRADES A PLAYER. BOSTON, July 22.—Infielder Charles L. Herzog, who was recently suspended for a few days by the Boston Nationals because of a controversy with President Russell, was today traded to the New York Nationals for Infielder Bridwell and Henry Gowdy.

ONLY MEN AT HIS FUNERAL. EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 22.—Becoming a woman hater because his wife deserted him, Leavie Leavie, 67, after inducing him to assign half his property to her, John Steller, aged 67 years, stipulated in his dying bequests that none but men attend his funeral. His wish was followed.

GRAND RAPIDS. GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 22.—Men were put to work today building a new grandstand at Comstock Park for the Grand Circuit harness race next week.

As one gang clears away the ruins of the stand burned Wednesday a corps of carpenters follows, erecting the supports of the new.

It is announced that the stands will be ready next Tuesday, when the meet opens.

WILL REBUILD TRACK. DENVER, July 22.—Joe Carney of San Francisco, champion pool and billiard expert of the Pacific Coast, was defeated last night 100 to 71 in a three-cushion billiard match with Sam F. McGrew of Denver. This is Carney's first defeat here.

MANTELL WINS EASILY. NEW YORK, July 22.—Frank Mantell, 22, defeated Nelson, the Australian, in the championship running in five rounds at the Twentieth Century Athletic club last night. Nelson proved the better boxer at first, but in the three middle rounds in his favor, but slugging beat him.

GEORGE BOND, who will attempt to swim the Golden Gate tomorrow with Walter Pomeroy of the Olympic Club.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The difficult task of swimming across the Golden Gate will be attempted tomorrow by Walter Pomeroy and George Bond, two members of the Olympic Club, who aspire to cover the distance in less than one hour. Both Pomeroy and Bond have been preparing for this feat during the last six weeks, and each evening have taken to the water at the foot of Van Ness avenue and stroked a mile or less in anticipation of realizing their ambition tomorrow.

Originally the time of starting from the shore at Fort Point was announced as about a few minutes before 11 o'clock, but Pomeroy stated yesterday that it would most likely be 11:15 before the swimmers leave this side. This is due to the changing tides. The swimmers will wait for slack water, which, from their observation during the last week, will occur shortly after 11 o'clock.

JAS. M'CAHILL DIES IN MICHIGAN

Man Who Traded $1500 Lot for $10,000,000
Passes Away.

DULUTH, July 22.—James McCahill, a mine owner and millionaire, is dead at his home at Lake City. He was 80 years old and is survived by a widow and six children.

McCahill was a carpenter and building contractor in the early days in Duluth up to the early 90s when he traded a piece of Duluth real estate, valued at about $1500 for 160 acres of land on the Mesaba range.

This quarter section happened to be what is now known as the Shenango iron mine. It contained more than 40,000,000 tons of iron ore and the royalty to McCahill of 25 cents a ton establishes his wealth at around $10,000,000.

McCahill has for several years spent about two-thirds of each year in California.

PERUVIAN LEGATION STONED.
BOGOTA, Columbia, July 22.—The Peruvian legation was stoned on Wednesday night by a mob. Measures have been taken by the government to prevent a recurrence of the rioting. The violence was due to ill-feeling over the alleged encroachment of Peru on territory claimed by Columbia.

BEAU BRUMMEL COMEDIAN ALSO A NEAR-AVIATOR

CARLTON CHASE, the beau brummel actor in a Curtiss aeroplane.

Carlton Chase, the beau brummel comedian of the Idora extravaganza, is somewhat of an aviator—that is he is aviated once. The above picture shows him seated in Bob St. Henry's Curtiss airplane. Chase is always a model of the correctly dressed man, whether on the stage or off. In the picture he is seen togged out in the very latest aviating clothes. Next week at Idora, Chase is to sing the part of Prince Danilo, in the Gypsy Merry Widow, the new free extravaganza.

NEW OCEAN MAIL SERVICE ORDERED

Colon and Panama to Be Linked Closer With Coast Cities.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—An order of considerable importance, from both a postal and commercial point of view, was issued by Postmaster General Hitchcock yesterday, looking to the establishment of an ocean mail service by sixteen-knot steamers between leading Atlantic and Pacific ports in the country and the ports of Colon and Panama. The advertisement provides that the service shall begin in the fall of 1914 so as to be in operation when the Panama canal is opened.

Under the proposed contract, fast steamers will furnish weekly service, one hand between New York and Colon, calling at Charleston or Savannah, or both, and from New Orleans to Colon, and on the other hand from Seattle and San Francisco to Panama, calling at San Pedro or San Diego, or both.

The opening of the canal will enable steamers which, under this contract, carry mails to Colon or Panama, to continue their journey through the canal and to proceed on the western voyage to San Francisco or to points in South America; and on the return voyage to points on the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, thus permitting them to carry cargo between distant points without breaking bulk.

CONVENIENT ROUTE.
This will afford a convenient and reliable transportation line for freights in swifter steamers than any now available between seaports on the two coasts. Thus, the completion of the Panama canal, which is expected to open a new era in commerce of the world, will be accompanied by the establishment of an American ocean mail service that should all long felt want in our commercial relations with Central and South America.

LIFE SENTENCE DEALT TO DIAMOND ROBBERS

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—H. C. Rogers, who, with Jack Pearson, alias Baker, entered the offices of H. T. Reid, a diamond merchant, at midday on June 22 in a busy downtown office building, beat Reid into helplessness and escaped with several thousand dollars worth of gems, pleaded guilty yesterday in Superior Judge Willis' court and was sentenced to life imprisonment in Folsom. Rogers and Reid faced each other in court and each told his story of the bold daylight robbery. Reid's head was still swathed with bandages covering the wounds inflicted by the sandbag wielded by the man called Baker. Baker, admitting that he accompanied Baker to Reid's office, swore that he took no part in the assault on Reid, and claimed that he was mentally dominated by Baker, with whom he had lived a Bohemian life in San Francisco. He was arrested at Coronado, and several hundred dollars worth of diamonds stolen were found on him. These, he said, were handed him by Pearson at the depot after the robbery.

Rogers is 27 years old, fine looking and gentle-mannered. Baker has not yet been apprehended by the police. He is believed to have left the city in company with a woman, who carries with her a large Angola cat.

KEP TWEDDING SECRET.
VALLEJO, July 22.—Keeping his intentions a secret from even his closest friends, Martin V. Davis, a well known clerk in the accounting department of at Mare Island, was married to Miss Mary White, of Waterville, Iowa, in San Francisco, Wednesday.

The young people will spend two weeks on a honeymoon trip at Lake Tahoe.

GETS DIVORCE IN COLD GRAY DAWN

Mrs. Edith Martin Wilson Kept Decree Secret Many Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Getting up ever so early on the morning of June 24, Mrs. Edith Martin Wilson, accompanied by an attorney, made her way through the near dawn to the dim courtroom of Superior Judge Cabanis, and as the sun was peeping over the tops of the Contra Costa hills Mrs. Wilson obtained a decree of divorce from Nicholas F. Wilson, wealthy oil promoter and associate in the oil business with Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, retired. At least Mrs. Wilson said yesterday that the decree was granted at a very early hour in the morning. The marital proceedings were agreed upon to keep the matter a secret and the papers in the case have been hidden away in some recess of the county clerk's office so that few were aware that the divorce of the couple had been accomplished.

PROPERTY DIVISION SETTLED.

"The ground given was desertion," explained Mrs. Wilson yesterday at the Bellevue hotel. "That was the nicest and easiest way of doing it. There was no contest. Mr. Wilson was in the city; but was not in court. However, he was represented there by his attorneys. We had settled the property division out of court. I got the residence at 25 Presidio terrace and property in Los Angeles. The house will be sold. I intend to make my home here, but usually I make two trips to New York each year, and I shall go soon. But I shall return."

"Mr. Wilson and I were married ten years ago," continued the youthful looking divorcee. "We were boy and girl sweethearts and were married when I was 17 years old. And this is what it came to. As I said to Mr. Wilson, it took us longer to get married than it did to get divorced. The divorce proceedings were very simple. One other witness and I testified to the facts of the desertion and the decree was entered."

PROMINENT IN SOCIETY.

Mrs. Wilson is a handsome woman. She has been prominent in San Francisco society and was a popular figure at the Greenway and assembly dances.

A year ago an estrangement developed between Wilson and his wife and they separated. They found that condition of life unsatisfactory and unpleasant, for they were the targets for much gossip. In February Mrs. Wilson decided to sue for a divorce and in June the papers were secretly filed and on June 24 the early morning trip was made to the Superior Court and Judge Cabanis dissolved the matrimonial bonds. Mrs. Wilson is recognized as one of the most prominent and successful oil operators in California. He is vice-president of the California Consolidated Oil Company and is interested in many other concerns affiliated with the oil industry. He has played an important part in developing the oil industry in California, and has accumulated a large fortune in his operations.

Mrs. Edith Martin Wilson lived in New York before her marriage to Wilson. The couple were married in New York, but have lived in California for several years.

CAPITALIST AND WIFE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

ROSEBURG, Ore., July 22.—While rounding a sharp curve on the Roseburg-Myrtille point stage road near the summit of Sugar Loaf mountain, fifty miles west of Roseburg, late yesterday, an automobile occupied by Al Creason, a local capitalist, his wife and eighteen-year-old daughter plunged down the steep embankment and into the river, a distance of 100 feet. Although seriously injured, Creason succeeded in ascending the grade and reaching a telephone station, where he told of what had occurred. Messages were immediately sent to Myrtille Point and automobiles carrying physicians were rushed to the scene of the accident.

After lending whatever assistance was possible, Creason and his wife were rushed to Myrtille Point, where an effort is being made to charter a special train to carry them to the hospital at North Bend.

Mrs. Creason is terribly injured and the attending physicians entertain little hope of recovery. Creason is also seriously hurt, but will probably recover. The young woman, who occupied the rear seat with her daughter, jumped as the machine darted off the road and escaped without serious injury.

JAMES T. DUNN'S BODY UNCLAIMED

Domestic Troubles Believed to Have Been Responsible for Suicide.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 22.—Mystery still shrouds the motive of James T. Dunn, the former San Francisco hotel man, in taking his life by a revolver shot in Mallas hotel last night, but the authorities who all day have been making investigation, believe domestic troubles caused his act. It is believed he came here with the determined purpose of killing himself.

Wednesday morning on the electric mall train, and registered at the Mallas, where he is well known. According to the police, he prepared himself for the deed by drinking heavily. He remained in his room, where he was found partly dressed at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

The body was identified yesterday by Robert Delaney, proprietor of the Hotel Dunlap, where Dunn was mixed in a sensational quarrel which nearly resulted in a shooting some months ago.

The police have been unable to locate Dunn's wife, from whom he has been estranged since October, 1909. She is said to be in Denver. Nobody has claimed the body.

OAKLAND TO HAVE NEW GOULD LINE?

Jeffery Hints at Willingness to Back San Jose Line.

SAN JOSE, July 22.—The Western Pacific Railroad Company might lend the assistance of its big organization to building a privately owned railroad line from Oakland to San Jose, to connect with the Western Pacific there. This is the most that a committee of 100 "business" men, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and other civic organizations, could get in the way of a promise from E. T. Jeffery, president of the Western Pacific, who, with fourteen other railroad men, visited this valley yesterday. Jeffery was enthusiastic over everything he saw, was sincerely extravagant in his praise of the beauty and wealth of the Santa Clara valley, and expressed himself as delighted with the hospitality of its citizens.

"We are under a promise, an agreement, with the bondholders and stockholders of the road," he said, "to refrain from starting any branch lines until we have fully completed and perfected our main line between Salt Lake City and San Francisco. We might, however, entertain the idea of assisting the financing of a privately owned line from Oakland to San Jose, and I think I can say that we would be willing to lend the assistance of our big organization to putting such a road upon its feet."

The condition of the Western Pacific's resources, is such that an extension to San Jose cannot be seriously considered by the company. All of our available money is at present tied up in improving our new line."

RAIN FLOODS CITY AND TIES UP RAILROAD

EL PASO, Tex., July 22.—A rainstorm which swept this section early yesterday morning, thoroughly demoralized railroad traffic in the Southwest. Washouts of a serious nature occurred on the Southern Pacific, the Texas & Pacific, the Santa Fe and the El Paso & Southwestern. Train service was partially resumed last night. The Rio Grande river is rising rapidly, and is already out of its banks in places, flooding the basement of the United States immigration service station during the day.
